The Poet and his book

It was a 'dream come true', says Romulus' Edward Kind who holds high the book of poems he authored and published. Kind's works, featured at times in The Associated Newspapers, tell of a nation and people who believe in freedom and are willing to die for it. "Leaves of Freedom" is the author's first published book venture and has stirred a lot of excitement at the bookstore.

'Leaves of freedom'

Romulus poet's dream comes true

It's every writer's dream to "be published". Some see those dreams realized...other just continue to dream. However, for Ed Kind, a Romulus resident who has had his poems published in the Associated Newspapers and surrounding suburban newspapers, his dream came true.

Kind has published his first works — "Leaves of Freedom", and "they're going as fast as hotcakes."

"I'm really overwhelmed at the response I'm getting from this first book," Kind said, "and I'm so enthused that I've begun working on my second one. I think I have enough material to hand the stuff over to a publisher right now."

Kind said that over 250 copies of the poems have been sold since they have gotten off the press. He said he wrote the poems and published them "because I have strong ideas and convictions about this country. I love people and I feel that this is the greatest country in the world. And the best society history has ever produced."

The 55-year-old crane operator said that he has been receiving fan mail since the book has appeared in the bookstores.

"I think the reason for the success is because the reader can identify with the material. There isn't a lot of symbolism or complexity in what I write. People say 'Hey, I can buy that idea. Or thought.'"

Kind loves America. His poetic talents depict the beauty and captures a panorama of America and Americans at work. At play. In love. In battle and in peace.

A native of Detroit where he grew up in the colorful section of the city known as Corktown, Kind's poetry draws to the mind pictures and images of a nation that may suffer a setback but never surrenders its values and democratic ways.

"Leaves of Freedom" represents Kind's general moods and interest. The beauty of his works is that the reader can identify, clearly understand, and feel with its subject.

Ed had an illness in early life which gave him a late start in his elementary schooling. He left grade school to work

City Council creates Downtown Development District Authority

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus City Council gave a shot in the arm to local businesses when it voted unanimously last week to create a Downtown Development Authority.

After Grants Co-ordinator Patrick Hogan explained the DDA and fielded questions at a fairly well attended public hearing last week Tuesday, Council voted 6-0 to approve the concept. Council member Gerald Canejo was absent.

According to the local ordinance creating the authority, "City Council has determined it is necessary for the best interests of the public to halt property value deterioration and increase property tax evaluation where possible in the business district; to eliminate the causes of that deterioration and to promote economic growth."

In approving the ordinance, Council has designated the Development District boundaries to cover the old downtown area of the city, which basically includes the business area from Norfolk and Western Railroad on the north, along both sides of Goddard Road, to a point just east of Wayne Road on the east and to the western edge where Goddard Road intersects with Huron River Drive.

The Authority is a direct result of the City of Romulus working together with the Romulus Central Business District Association (RCBDA) to plan for and improve the downtown economic climate.

A resolution, passed along with the ordinance creating the DDA, states that the end result of the Authority "would provide the means to correct and prevent property deterioration in the Downtown District and eliminate the causes of such decay in order to promote economic growth and provide the citizens of Romulus with convenient and needed commercial goods and services."

The establishment of a Downtown Development Authority is provided for in Act No. 197 of the Public Acts of 1975.

Grants Co-ordinator Hogan explained that the new ordinance calls for nine members to be appointed by the mayor to the governing board of the DDA, with the concurrence of City Council.

Included among the nine board members are Mayor Oakley, five property owners inside the designated development district, one resident in the area and two other city residents. Of the members first appointed, two will be appointed for one year, two for two years, two for three years and two for 4-year terms.

A member will hold office until the member's successor is appointed. Thereafter, a member will serve for a term of four years. Appointments to fill board vacancies will be made by the mayor of the city for the unexpired term only. Members of the board will serve without compensation but will be reimbursed for actual and necessary expenses. The chairman of the board will be elected by the board.

Before assuming the duties of office, members will take the constitutional

Simonds plays key DDA role

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Much of the credit for the newly approved Downtown Development Authority (DDA) in Romulus is given to the hard work and enthusiasm of William Simonds, owner of Bilmar's Market on Goddard Road and President of the Romulus Central Business District Association.

City Council unanimously approved an ordinance creating a DDA last week. Simonds outlined his feelings in a letter sent Feb. 3 to City Council and Mayor William M. Oakley.

In urging City Council to create the DDA, Simonds stated: "We are anxious to keep the momentum that has been created through the joint efforts of yourselves and the RCBDA moving forward in the Downtown."

"To continue this 'rebirth,' the Council has taken the first step in the process — adoption of a resolution which indicates the city's intention to establish a DDA."

"We are sure that the Mayor and Council recognizes the need and importance of establishing a DDA for Downtown Romulus. An effective and continuing management program is an essential prerequisite to revitalizing the Downtown," Simonds said.

He further pointed out that eight communities in southeastern Michigan have used the DDA as a management tool to halt property value deterioration and increase the economic growth and vitality of their commercial centers.

"A DDA, quite simply, molds together the resources and expertise of the City and the private sector in a joint and coordinated program to assure an attractive and healthy Downtown. A DDA has a wide spectrum of capabilities to revitalize a business district," Simonds told Mayor Oakley and City Council members.

Those capabilities, he said, include: — Prepare plans for development and

A wicked story

A combination of rain and snow spelled trouble for the area last Tuesday as the freezing rains caused havoc for residents and motorists. The Wayne County Sheriff's Road Patrol received numerous reports of car accidents, like the one above involving a dumpster truck and vehicle that left two persons shaken up and with minor injuries. The icy conditions throughout most of southeast Michigan forced schools to close and crippled most of the area. Mild temperatures on Saturday and Sunday resolved most of the problems as ice dissipated and roads were cleared.

Snowstorm leaves a mess, but does only minor damage

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Last week's 9-inch snowfall, which caused a state of emergency to be called in several neighboring communities and wreaked havoc for motorists driving home during rush hour, did relatively little damage in Romulus.

Romulus Department of Public Works Director David Paul said the snow itself wasn't much of a problem. "We pushed the snow off the roads and had the main thoroughfares clean right through the afternoon," he said. "But when the snow turned to freezing rain as the temperatures dropped, we had to stop work about 8 p.m. Tuesday because of frozen conditions and resumed again at 4 a.m. the following morning."

Paul said most of the problems came from ditches freezing up and culverts not draining properly, causing flooding on some people's property. "We had a main break on Harrison Road south of Northline that caused most of the flooding problems," he said.

He pointed out that ice and snow had frozen on gravel roads in the city, making driving very difficult in some areas and in virtually all subdivisions. "Before we were able to clear all the snow and freezing rain off the streets, it froze on us. With the sun out like it is today, we're trying to break up as much of the melting snow and ice as we can," Paul said Friday.

Paul said the DPW crews worked faithfully throughout the week, working on their scheduled holiday off last Thursday to clear the roads and get them back to normal.

City Council last week authorized the purchase of a large Ford backhoe for the DPW which the department can use for main breaks and sewer tap-ins. "We were able to arrange a pretty good deal on purchasing the backhoe," Paul said. "It originally cost $42,480, but with trading in two smaller used backhoes, the cost to

Mayor dispels rumors he won't run

Oakley to seek re-election

Romulus Mayor William M. Oakley announced this week that he will kick off his bid for re-election to a third term with a March barn dance.

"For some reason, there were a few people who thought I might not run again," Oakley said. "But I definitely am seeking re-election and will kick off my campaign as I have traditionally in the past — with a March dance."

The "Barn Dance" is slated for Saturday, March 21 and will run from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. at Progressive Hall, 11580 Ozga in Romulus. The evening will be highlighted with music from "The Gentlemen," a group of country-western musicians.

"This year's barn dance will feature a little bit of country and some good down home fun," said a spokesman for the fund-raiser. "We want everyone to don a pair of jeans and country things and celebrate the 1981 re-election campaign with the Mayor, friends and neighbors."

Tickets are $7.50 per person for the dance, which will provide dancing, beer and set-ups, door prizes and raffles. For ticket information, call 941-1077 or 941-3714.

Mayor Oakley, who previously served as a two-term councilman, was first elected mayor in 1977 and then again in 1979. This fall he will seek his third 2-year term as chief elected official Romulus.

In brief Jaycees

Romulus Jaycees are looking for young men 18 to 35 years old to join their community-minded organization.

The group has scheduled a slide presentation and guest speaker to tell all about Jaycee work at a meeting to be held at 8 p.m. on Thursday, Feb. 26 at City Hall Council chambers, 11111 S. Wayne Road, Romulus.

"The slide show will depict various activities that Jaycees take part in around the state and in their own local communities," said Norman Sims, a spokesman for the Romulus Jaycees. "The speaker will also explain about Jaycee work and answer any questions from the audience."

Sims may be contacted for more details at 941-9325 after 6 p.m. daily.

PCHA unveils 4-year service program plan

Providing health care in the 1980s is a job that requires planning, cooperation, ability to deal with regulations and guidelines and a willingness to adapt to changing needs.

Peoples Community Hospital Authority (PCHA) isn't leaving its "plan of action" for the '80s to chance. The authority, which owns and operates five hospitals in southeast Michigan, initiated a planning process two years ago to study future health care needs and how to serve them. The result of the planning process was a document called the 1980-1984

Service Program Plan, which was approved by the PCHA Board of Directors in 1980.

This month, PCHA is publishing a summary of its program plan for the citizens living in the area served by the authority.

The summary, entitled "Planning for Health," tells how PCHA hopes to deal with a growing population that is growing older, to cooperate with other hospitals to avoid duplication of services, to increase emphasis on outpatient care, develop services in areas of increasing need such as mental health, and in other ways react to the changing health care environment.

An integral part of PCHA's program planning, however, is the authority's cooperation with state regulatory agencies whose job it is to review and approve any major programs and capital investments proposed by hospitals. Many of the projects in this plan will be subject to this review, as investments in health care are becoming increasingly scrutinized.

"PCHA will work with and cooperate with these agencies to insure that the best health care will be available and accessible to the people in our service area," said Donald J. Pizzimenti of Allen Park, chairman of the PCHA Board of Directors.

PCHA's previous long range plan was written back in 1968. The biggest project in that plan was construction of Heritage Hospital in Taylor, which opened in 1977.

"This time, we developed not only a new long range plan, but a planning process that gives us the flexibility to continue to change and adapt as the demands of health care delivery change," said Patrick J. Norton of Wayne, vice-chairman of the Board of Directors and chairman of the PCHA Long Range Planning Committee.

"To let our planning efforts fall behind would be a disservice to the citizens who depend on us to provide up-to-date health care," he added. "It is our responsibility to respond to their needs. Real planning is a dynamic process, it never 'ends'."

'Jaws of Life'

You're trapped in your car. Police and fire officials rush to your rescue, but the steel is twisted in a manner that they can't get you out. Precious seconds pass. A life is lost. How many times has this happened, and will happen. But now thanks to a cutting tool that has been labeled "Jaws of Life", officials can cut through steel within seconds. And Romulus fire officials were fortunate enough to be the recipient of "Jaws" last week and put on a demonstration (above) for the press. Above local fire officials use the cutting tool to "tear apart a wrecked vehicle."

Are you ready for 9-digit zip code?

By SUE McDONALD
ANP News Editor

It took Americans almost 10 years to get used to using the 5-digit ZIP Code, but if U.S. postal officials have their way, within five years all letters and packages mailed in this country will have a 9-digit ZIP Code.

The new ZIP Code will likely take effect in June, with the public being notified of their new ZIP Code by carrier by June 1.

"ZIP plus 4" will be used on a voluntary basis, but postal officials will be asking businesses to begin using the new codes as soon as possible.

Current ZIP Codes will not be changed, but rather a 4-digit sequence will be added on, permitting postal machines to sort mail down to the actual side of the street the home or business is located on, according to Charles Trupiano, who helped with the coding in the State of Michigan.

According to Trupiano, a supervisor of mails and delivery attached with the Wayne-Westland Post Office, the United States is one of the last countries to switch to the 9-digit ZIP Code.

With 90 percent of the postal volume associated with big business, Trupiano said the four extra numbers will cut the cost of handling mail. The postal system currently uses machines which sort the mail by city, with hand sorting breaking it down to routes. With the 4-digit addition a second piece of machinery will be able to scan the mail, to sort by section and streets in the community, right to the carrier.

According to Trupiano, the new ZIP Codes were to have gone into effect on Feb. 1, but because most of the new machinery would have to be purchased from foreign firms, the starting date was delayed to allow American technology to catch up and big businesses to get their appropriate codes.

Trupiano said that any business with a mail volume in excess of 10 pieces a day will get its own segment code. In short, the first two numbers of the 4-digit add on represent the section of the city, while the latter two represent the segment, or as Trupiano puts it, the side of the street.

"Everything is by numbers these days," Trupiano explained, adding that use of the nine digits on mail "in the near future will be beneficial to firms in cutting cost and in time savings."

The 9-digit ZIP program actually got underway in November 1978, but codings teams didn't begin working in Michigan until March 1980. According to Trupiano, the state has a total of 14 9-digit codes, with 550 assigned nationwide.

He admits that the new ZIP Codes will not necessarily make mail delivery faster, but will cut down on the amount of handling. With 9-digit ZIP that handling would be less than half of what it currently is under 5-digit ZIP.

But Trupiano stresses that the ZIP Code should be the last line written on a piece, in that machines used to read mail, scan the bottom line to sort. If the ZIP Code isn't the bottom line than the piece of mail must be hand sorted.

To help in the transition to 9-digit ZIP, the postal system will be working with the telephone system to establish a directory. Postal customers than would be able to call to get the ZIP, a service similar to the postal system's MR. ZIP (226-6610).

Trupiano said that reaction to the new multi-digit ZIP has been enthusiastic, and that many firms are interested in the new codes so that stationary and similar paperwork can be ordered.

So if you think you had a hard time learning your ZIP Code, be prepared. You'll have only five years to learn the new one.

IF YOU CHIP A TOOTH

Billy was playing sandlot baseball. He was catcher — a brave one — without a mask. As fate would have it, the batter swung at a pitch and the backswing hit Billy in the mouth and chipped off two of his front teeth. This is a typical dental emergency which requires immediate dental care.

When injury exposes the tooth pulp, it can be serious since the potential for infection is high. The pulp is the innermost chamber of the tooth and contains nerves and blood vessels.

Temporary treatment of injured tooth pulp includes the use of a sedative dressing to cut down sensitivity in the area. If a pulpectomy (removal of the pulp material) is necessary, it will be followed by root-canal therapy, and the use of a crown or a cap if the tooth can be preserved.

Until you can get to a dentist following an injury, keep the mouth as clean as possible by rinsing it with a solution of salt water. If there are loose teeth, no food should be chewed until the teeth are stabilized in the jaw.

If county doesn't supply protection

Regional police force plan studied

By BOB AMEEN
ANP Staff Writer

The possibility that Wayne County Sheriff's Dept. deputies may soon not provide police protection to out-county communities has generated new interest in forming a regional police agency to serve all of the affected areas.

Police services provided by Sheriff William Lucas will come to a halt soon if the courts uphold budget cuts by the county Board of Commissioners who have axed the sheriff's patrol and investigation unit (P & I).

After May 19, such communities as the city of Romulus, Plymouth and Brownstown township may be forced to either form their own police departments or search about in hopes of contracting police services from another source.

Henry Redman, director of the Western Five Community Conference, is studying the possibility of recommending a regional police force to serve the five communities in the consortium and possibly others to his board of directors.

The Western Five serves the cities of Belleville and Romulus and the townships of Van Buren, Sumpter and Huron, seeking to save funds, avoid duplication of services, and obtain grants for its community members.

As envisioned by Redman, a police assessment district would be established. Each community served with police protection would pay an amount that would be based on its population and its area in square miles patrolled.

Redman favors the concept of getting skilled professional police officers as opposed to hiring relatively untrained personnel.

His belief was echoed by the elected head of a community which would be left without police services if the sheriff is forced to pull out of that area. The official, who wished to remain anonymous, said he felt the Michigan State Police would be the best agency with which to contract for police protection.

The officials said state police officers all have to meet high educational requirements and are trained in all facets of police enforcement, making them ideal for regional police agency.

Redman said he is contemplating the recommendation of the regional police concept to his board at Western Five. The board is composed of the elected heads of the five community members and is chaired by Van Buren Sup. Pat Cullin.

Except for Romulus and Plymouth and Brownstown townships, police protection if provided on a part-time basis to unincorporated areas of Wayne County by the sheriff's department. In some cases, deputies augment local volunteer police forces and in others are the sole police authority.

A regional type police force would provide uniform protection. Redman pointed out, but a new factor would be introduced in some areas — additional money out of taxpayers pockets to pay for that service.

But, the director emphasized, adequate police enforcement is needed, and in most cases, wanted by residents of out-county communities. He feels that most citizens would gladly pay a nominal tax charge for police services, especially in this era of ever-increasing crime.

"Taxpayers who know that their loved ones and their property are being patrolled and protected by the best law enforcement officers available will not be inclined to resist paying a small tax for those services," explained Redman.

Right now, time is important to residents of these out-county communities who after May 19 could find themselves at the mercy of local criminals and those foraging into greener pastures from the inner city.

Redman concludes the idea of a regional police force has much merit and said he welcomes suggestions and recommendations from interested individuals and groups. He asked that interested persons call him or his aide, Patricia Jordan, at 1-699-2022 or see them personally by appointment at his office in Van Buren Township Hall.

Schools get their state aid

Senate Majority Leader William Faust (D-Westland) has announced that school districts in his 13th Senatorial District will share $7,407,427, the February state school aid payment.

In addition, the districts will receive $3,006,140 in federal TITLE I funds, and 13 districts will share $1,201,058 in vocational education money.

The distribution of the state aid funds to area school districts was:

- Cherry Hill School District, $186,236;
- Inkster City School District, $551,945;

- Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, $306,786;
- Romulus Community Schools, $169,650;
- Wayne-Westland Community Schools, $2,781,432;
- Huron School District, $195,593; and
- Van Buren Public Schools, $245,320.

Title I funds went to Cherry the Hill School District, $163,925; Inkster City School District, $269,009; Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, $79,086;

Romulus Community Schools, $103,344; Wayne-Westland Community Schools, $376,818; Huron School District, $11,336; and Van Buren Public Schools, $130,291.

Districts receiving the vocational Education Act funds were Cherry Hill School District, $28,960; Inkster City School District, $24,161; Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, $40,578; Romulus Community Schools, $57,670; Wayne-Westland Community Schools, $566,707; Huron School District, $5,084; and Van Buren Public Schools, $40.

Tax revolt brewing

Area plans P.A. 114 protest

Area communities and those across the state of Michigan are sending resolutions to Lansing by the score in protest of substantially higher real property taxes brought about by a new state act.

For the first time, each different class of property is getting its own "equalization factor" which theoretically brings local assessments up to the state-required one-half of the current market value.

But, residential properties will bear the biggest boost of all due to soaring real estate prices up to the recent advent of high interest rates. New residential equalization factors issued this year will send property taxes up from 20 to 50 percent in many areas.

County taxation bureaus compute the factors on the basis of real estate taxes in each community over a three-year period.

Had not Public Act 114 been implemented this year, property taxes still would have risen, but not nearly as much. Accompanying the story is a list of townships and cities in Wayne County showing how much property tax assessments will increase with and without Public Act 114.

Municipality	Increases with P.A. 114	Increases no P.A. 114

Public hearing set on drain problems

There are two important public hearings scheduled for Tuesday, Feb. 24 in Romulus City Council chambers, 11111 S. Wayne Road, that the public is urged to attend.

Beginning at 7 p.m., Feb. 24, a public hearing will be held to discuss cleaning of the Post, Vealy and Bartlow Drains. City Council originally scheduled a public hearing on the drains on Jan. 6, but weather conditions prohibited many from attending that night.

Subsequently, council requested that the hearing be rescheduled at a later date in order to provide citizens further opportunity for input." City Clerk Leonard Folmar said.

"Wayne County Drain Commissioner Charles Youngblood has been notified and requested to attend the hearing. We also invite every resident concerned with the situation to attend and express their views on the subject," Folmar said.

Immediately following at 7:30 p.m. on Feb. 24 will be a public hearing in Council chambers on a request by Woolf Aircraft Products, Inc. for an Industrial Development District. Citizens are also urged to attend that public hearing and express any opinions they may have.

The regular city council meeting will begin at 8 p.m. following the two important public hearings.

Your car expenses are tax deductible

Taxpayers filing 1980 federal income tax forms can claim a number of deductions for business or personal use of their motor vehicles. Automobile Club of Michigan points out.

There are two ways to figure the deductible cost of operating a vehicle for business purposes: taking a standard deduction of 20 cents per mile for the first 15,000 miles and 11 cents per mile thereafter, or maintaining detailed records of actual expenses.

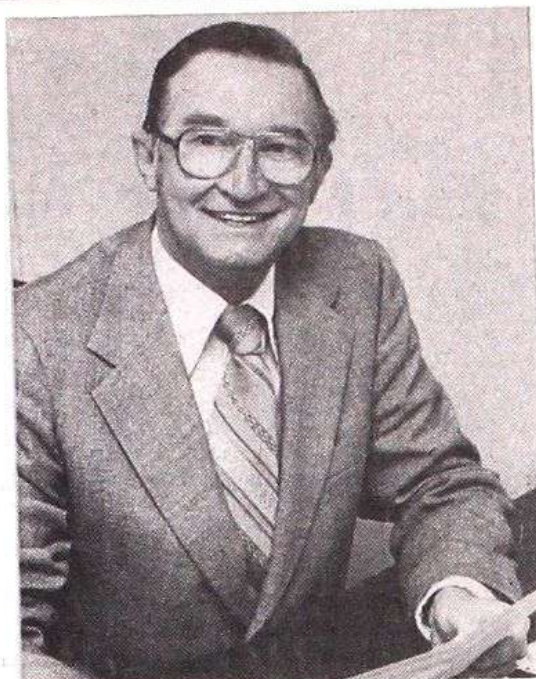

Taxpayers who choose the latter method can deduct the following expenses relative to their business use of the car:

- Insurance premiums, license and title fees and Auto Club dues.
- Gas, oil, lubrication, washing, parking, tolls and repair costs.
- Depreciation: any reasonable method may be used if consistently applied.

• Monthly car lease payments including additional operating costs. Rental costs are in lieu of depreciation.

There are deductions that motorists can take regardless of whether the car is used for business or personal use. They include:

- State sales tax paid on the purchase of an automobile, motorcycle, motor home or truck.
  - Interest on auto loans.
  - Casualty or theft losses in excess of the amount covered by insurance. The first $100 is not deductible.
  - Nine cents per mile for medical or charitable trips.
  - Nine cents per mile for moving expenses for those who qualify as specified in tax form 3903 or in lieu of actual expenses.
- For additional information regarding auto-related deductions, call the Internal Revenue Service's toll-free number listed in the telephone directory.

Morris R. Divian recently was named as the assistant vice-president at the National Bank of Detroit branch in Belleville. Divian, who has been employed by the NBD for 12 years and has had various assignments in Westland, Inkster and Wayne replaces Neil Banks, who has retired. Married and the father of two children, Divian, who is a World War II veteran, has two children and two grandchildren and makes his home in Redford Township.

Smith named G.M. at Detroit Diesel Allison

Harold L. Smith Jr. has been named general manager of the Detroit Diesel Allison Division, General Motors Corporation. He is also a GM vice president. Smith replaces Donald J. Atwood, who has been appointed group executive in charge of GM's Electrical Components Group.

A native of Muskogee, Okla., Smith received a bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering from the University of Michigan.

He joined General Motors with the Electro-Motive Division in LaGrange, Ill., as a detail project engineer in 1946. Smith worked his way up through the engineering ranks, becoming assistant chief engineer in 1960, then chief engineer in 1965.

Smith was promoted to general manager of Electro-Motive Division and was elected a GM vice president in 1973. The following year he was appointed group executive in charge of the GM Power Products Group, the position he held until his latest assignment.

Detroit Diesel Allison ranks fourth among General Motors U.S. divisions in terms of employment with over 26,000 employees. It is the largest domestic manufacturer of medium- and heavy-duty diesel engines which are used in a variety of transportation, industrial and agricultural applications around the world.

DDA is also the largest producer of heavy-duty automatic transmissions in the world and leads the way in the production of gas turbine engines, helicopters. The division also manufactures larger gas turbines for use in fixed wing jet boprop aircraft and industrial applications.

Detroit Diesel Allison was formed in 1970, when the former Detroit Diesel Engine and Allison divisions. DDA has manufacturing operations in Romulus near Detroit; Indianapolis, Ind.; Birmingham, Northamptonshire, England; and Glasgow, Scotland.

'Friends of Library' rally around WCCC

In the Western Wayne County Region of Wayne County Community College's Service District, a new group has recently been formally established as an offspring of the Area Citizen's Advisory Council No. 7 and are known as the "Friends of the Library."

In an effort to assist the college with the upcoming opening of the New Western Regional Center, at 1-94 and Haggerty Road, in the fall of this year, the "Friends of the Library" will be working with college staff persons in "fostering community support and participation, acquisition of library materials to be utilized in the college's library through gifts, donations, and fund raisers, as well as assisting in the development of inter-institutional resource exchange."

Community involvement and participation comes as no surprise to Wayne County Community College. (Continued on Page A-6)

Brickley tells charter commissioners 'people want accountability'

By JIM BRADLEY

Lt. Gov. James Brickley told Charter Commissioners last week that people are desperately seeking leaders with "resolution," "output," and "accountability."

Speaking in Canton to the group charged with writing a new charter for Wayne County, Brickley asserted that the public is tired of the "drift" and "paralysis" that has gripped county government.

Twenty of the 27 charter officials were on hand for the meeting at Canton Township Hall, the first of 16 regular meetings in various communities to receive input from the public.

Inkster's Recreation Center, 2025 S. Middlebelt Road, will host the Thursday, Feb. 19 meeting and Westland City Hall, 36601 Ford Road, will be the scene of the Thursday, March 26 session. The regular meeting lasts from 6 to 7:30 p.m. each week and the public is invited to sit in. However, public input is received in the segment starting at 7:30 p.m.

Brickley was the featured guest at Thursday's meeting but several other local elected officials, department heads and community representatives told the charter group what they would like to see in the new county constitution.

"This is a first for me because I have never spoken before to a Charter Commission — to a group of people who are entrusted with the responsibility of drafting a constitution, if you will, a charter for a unit of government that will live on, hopefully, long after you are all gone by which your children and grandchildren will all be guided — under which they will live for better or worse in the third — I think — largest county in the United States of America," Brickley began.

"And I don't know if you're excited, but I am."

"I'm excited simply by virtue of the fact that I am given the privilege of delivering a lecture here this evening which, I understand, cannot go longer than two hours, is that right, George?"

He jokingly asked the question of George E. Ward, who is President of the Charter Commission and moderator of its meetings.

"I have studied government and talked government and worked in government all of my life. I have worked for the federal government, county government, state and municipal government. I've been in education so I have just oodles of ideas that, if I allowed myself, would keep me here two days."

"I don't have to tell you that we all come into assignments like this with biases, with preconceived notions and I guess the best thing we can all hope and pray is that in the course of your deliberations those will either be reinforced or perhaps fade away as you talk to one another and get to know one another."

Brickley said.

The Lt. Governor said he had met a lot of good people on the Charter Commission — a good cross-section of the population's people and political parties — and said he was reassured.

"I there is a serious problem today in government, it is that we have somehow lost an appreciation for — for lack of a better word — resolution."

"During the last several decades, we have been caught up with the process of government. We have talked about opening up government, talked a lot about 'input' and a lot of what we talked about was very valuable indeed."

"But in our preoccupation with input we have lost an appreciation for 'output.'"

"Essentially, I think, what happened over the last 10 years is that government got going on its own momentum and people had a feeling there was really a paralysis which led to a rather dramatic change on Nov. 4. That's when people indicated at the polls a considerable change in direction in this feeling of impotence of government that we are supporting a large government that's taking a sizeable portion of our income and yet it seems to be unresponsive to us," Brickley pointed out.

He said that the people somehow forgot that government is supposed to do things and take action — to be responsive. He asserted that the best "input" was done on election day, when the electorate indicated a course it wanted its elected leaders to follow.

"Courts have been deciding most of the vital issues of our day. Why? Why are policy decisions and value judgments being made in the courts?"

"Because you can get an answer. You may not like the court decision, but they're final. And that is the virtue of resolution — that you can get something done and you get an answer and get on with the agenda."

"That's why we've been governing in the courts, because — in my judgment — the other branches of government have become indecisive, they've forgotten the value of 'resolution'. Not how to keep everybody happy, because you can't keep everybody happy — but how to make a decision and get on with it."

Brickley said the Charter Commission's primary goal is to design a unit of government in which issue can be properly debated but in which there is some assurance of a decision.

"Wayne County, as presently structured, is not able to make decisions. We get preoccupied with personalities. Like waiting for a man on a white horse to ride up and solve all our problems."

"So, what you are in the process of doing is devising a system that will assure that the people are represented — that assures that government doesn't exist for government's sake, but for the people."

'Conference on Aging' talks are scheduled for Westland

A regional White House Conference on Aging (WHCONA) has been scheduled for March 6 at the Whittier Community and Senior Citizen Center, 28550 Ann Arbor Trail, Westland.

The meeting, which will start at 10 a.m., is open to anyone with an interest in the needs, concerns and well-being of older persons.

We'll be talking about issues which most effect older people in western and southern Wayne County," said Paul Petro, director of the Out-Wayne County Area Agency on Aging, which is sponsoring the event. "Our primary purpose is to identify problems which prevent older people from remaining in the community and living with dignity and independence."

Julius Otten, chairman of the area agency's Steering Committee for the White House conference, pointed out that "the conference is an opportunity for the public, and seniors in particular, to have some input into the formulation of policies that will effect the elderly in the decade to come."

"Older Americans are one of the fastest growing segments of the population, and it is a group that cannot be ignored. It is up to us to ensure that future older Americans can live productive later years," he added.

The regional conference is one of 14 such events sponsored around the state by the area agencies on aging. Participants at the conference will have an opportunity to recommend policies and to elect delegates who will speak on the behalf of the region at the state.

Belleville truck driver is among Michigan's best

A Belleville man is among 12 professional Michigan Truck Drivers to be honored by the Michigan Trucking Association February 17 at the Lansing Civic Center.

Richard Adams, a truck driver for R-W Service System, is one of 12 finalists in the trucking association's Annual Driver of the Year Contest.

To become a finalist, Adams was first selected as a Driver of the Month and holds that title for the month of January.

During the 33rd Annual Driver of the Year Banquet February 17, one of the 12 driver finalists will be named as the 1981 Driver of the Year.

ANP'S Lothar test runs Ford EXP

$225,000 vehicle is a dream car', he says

Ford Sports Car EXP and LN7
By Lothar E. Konietzko, ANP

I had the privilege to test drive the prototypes of Ford's EXP and LN7 this past November in Arizona.

These two "1982 models" are due to be introduced this April with the first car coming off the assembly line on February 16th.

The test driving and press gathering was put on by Ford Motor Co. which wanted to show off the firm's sporty versions of the 1981 Ford Escort and Mercury Lynx cars built at Ford's Wayne plant.

Journalists who covered the event were staff writers for automobile publications or free lance writers specializing in this field — they were "the long lead technical press."

These journalists must complete their inputs on new cars well in advance of publication. That is at least two months — and often closer to three months — before magazines reach the news stands across the United States.

Many of these people have current racing experience and are not in any way casual, tame drivers.

Others had racing experience and continuing test driving activity the year around, including competition with the long lead group, which numbers something under 200 persons, nationally.

One of these automobile writers is a good friend of mine and was kind enough to submit my name to Ford Motor Co. for this special event. His name is Tony Grey, who lives in Dearborn Heights.

Grey is a technical auto writer and has a degree in engineering. He is a freelance writer, contributing to such publications as the Christian Science Monitor and Road Test Magazine. His specialty was testing the performance cars of the era. This was the so called "golden era" of the hot cars; those with the capability — pretty much right of the showroom floor — running the standing start quarter mile under 15 seconds.

Engines with 350 horsepower and up with speeds from 120 up to around 170 miles per hour.

Friend Tony majored in journalism after WW II, but during military service he was a flight engineer on a 4-engine bomber with the 8th Air Force, flying 30 "visitation" missions in Europe.

Grey still maintains that he made contact with me during the war, while I was flying in the German Air Force. Near the end of WW II, after being highly decorated for bravery, Grey was a flying instructor on B-29 aircraft. After the war he spent most of his time on high performance cars, testing the vehicles and writing about them.

Ford's public relations approved Tony's invitation, provided I would abide by the embargo on all photos and text distributed in Phoenix. The embargo was for February 15th. That is why a news event that took place in November, appears here three months later.

Ford took us via American Airlines to Phoenix and lodged us in the famous Camelback Inn, located in Scottsdale. We had an early evening reception with dinner at which six hand-built examples of the Ford EXP and Mercury LN7 were on display.

This was my first look at these new sports cars.

And what a surprise! The number was limited to six prototypes because at around $225,000 each it is understandable that not more than absolutely necessary for all engineering testing, crash evaluation, press exposure, TV and advertising, are built.

And I was privileged to drive these new prototypes of the all new Ford sports cars. Wow!

The people from Ford's had their hands full and were required to put in some long hours to give everybody a chance to test drive these cars. They had prepared a rally event into the "superstition mountains" for the next day. The event began at 8 a.m. and was called the Lost Dutchman Rally, named after a German immigrant who discovered a gold mine there some 100 years ago.

Grey and I were assigned to a 1955 Ford Thunderbird for the first part of the Rally, because the EXP and LN7 were designed with the T-Bird in mind.

Our trip took in a wide area from Scottsdale to the Tortilla Flats and eventually north to Phoenix. It ended at the International Phoenix Raceway. We drove about 150 miles. It took us about four hours to complete.

Ford people had prepared a trip with virtually every type of road situation, starts and stops in residential areas to smooth highway driving and tight cornering in the mountains.

From Paradise Valley we continued along Lincoln road, McCormick Parkway, Shea Boulevard, Fountain Hills Boulevard with a man made lake to our left.

This lake had a 1½ million ceramic fountain which spews water 560 feet up into the air. This is 10 feet higher than its nearest rival, the Capt. Cook memorial jet in Cambarra, Australia, and 160 feet higher than New York City's DeLacorda Fountain.

The pumps keep eight tons of water, about 200 gallons, at all times in the air during the entire operation.

From the Fountain Hills we drove along route 87, also called the bee-line expressway into Gilbert road, passing by large numbers of Saguaro cactuses. These majestic desert plants live longer than many trees and serve as home for a small bird, called the cactus Wren.

Along the road we drove passed the Salt River Indian reservation, crossing the western tip of the salt river. This is a dry river, but later in the winter water will be released through the dam and the road becomes impassable at this point.

Further east the Salt River becomes the boundary line between the two Arizona Apache reservations.

These Indians are industrious and live in two bedroom brick homes, about a mile apart each with 160 acres of land on which they grow cotton and alfalfa.

Arizona is the third largest cotton producing state in the U.S.

Turning into McKellips Road we travelled through a major farming community with orange, lemon and lime orchards and more cotton fields.

McKellip's leads into the desert.

After reaching Apache Junction our route continued into Apache Trail and along Route 88 with the superstition mountains to our right, passing by the lost dutchman's park. Making a short stop we met a well known western landscape artist Scott Jennings. This most famous landmark along the Apache Trail conceals the lost Dutchman's mine. This is a land of "evil spirits." More than 50 persons have met their demise in the superstitions since the Dutchman's dead.

The Apache Trail is just what the name says, a trail used by the Apache war parties.

A good way to test one's driving ability and also test the EXP and LN7 on how it handles and responds to critical situations like this was that trail and obstacles we challenged.

Apache Trail road was finished in 1905 to provide access for the construction of the Roosevelt dam, the largest masonry dam ever built.

It rises 284 feet above bed rock. It is 184 feet thick at the base and 16 feet thick at the top.

More than 343,000 cubic yards of stone were used.

A mill was built on the site and all the cement used in the mortar — some 38,000 barrels of it — was manufactured from clay and lime stone near the dam.

Every ton of supply and every bit of machinery had to be carried into the canyon by mule train. Roosevelt Lake has a shoreline of 86 miles.

We reached Torilla Flat, where we changed cars. We returned on Route 88 and route 60.

After testing the sports cars for high speed driving along the freeway, we arrived at the Phoenix International Raceway. The Raceway opened for testing of the cars. A two mile course had been laid out, combining part of the raceway oval with a series of roads within the race

Although he is better known for the quality of photos he produces, Associated Newspapers' Chief Photographer Lothar Konietzko proved that he can handle any high-powered vehicle and stands behind Ford's $225,000 EXP, a vehicle he was given an opportunity to test drive recently. Lothar came away using only superlatives about the car, and felt "it was one of, if not the finest, he has ever driven."

It is the American Sports car dream of the 80s. Something in a class by itself, with class all of its own.

It is a car with the magic of the '55 T-Bird and the affordability of the 65 Mustang-but tuned to tomorrow.

The sportscoops called the Ford EXP and Mercury LN7 the best aerodynamic ratings of any standard-equipped American cars on the road.

I was thrilled to be given the opportunity to drive them. I shall not forget this experience.

Ford's regular Escort and Lynx models will continue to be built at the Wayne plant.

The EXP and LN7 models will go into production February 16 at Ford's St. Thomas, Ontario plant.

Friends of the Library rally around WC
Since or prior to inception of the college more than 10 years ago, citizens have played an active role in its history. Citizen's recommendations, program reviews, legislative lobbying and The Standing Committees of the College's membership usually emanate from a formal group known as Area Citizens Advisory Council of which there are seven.
A spokeswoman for the "Friends of the Library" at its January meeting said: "There are no membership dues. Participation is asked for through gifts, donations, time energy and idea's to assist us in establishing a most unique and well equipped library."

The "Friends of the Library's" first fund raiser is scheduled for May 23, at the Pine Creek Country Club. The golf outing will be held from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m., and tickets, which include lunch, beverages, golf and cards, as well as a Bar-B-Q, are $15 per person. For more information on both the golf outing and the "Friends of the Library," you may call Peg Smith at 697-4321 or 721-6220.

Mt. Clemens beats defenseless Romulus Eagles will face Oak Park on Friday

Just when Coach Al Wilkerson felt his team was putting things together, everything falls apart. Managing to stay abreast with a tough Mt. Clemens' quintet most of the first two periods, Romulus' defense collapsed after the half when the Eagles were outscored 23-9 during one spurt and subsequently fell 77-54 to their visitors.

"We just didn't play any defense at all in that second half," moaned Wilkerson who must contend with Oak Park on Friday. "You can't give up 77 points and win ballgames—no way."

Mt. Clemens had a 10-8 edge after the first eight minutes, but the Eagles countered in the next frame, getting eight points from Patrick Bell to take a narrow 29-28 lead before the intermission.

"We began to look like a team out there then," Wilkerson said. "And things seemed to be falling into place. But suddenly the kids quite playing defense."

Clemens rattled Romulus thanks to Robert Thompson's show in the third period as he connected for seven of his 17 points in that quarter. Thompson and his teammates hit on 73 percent from the floor in the second half and that was more than sufficient to handle the Eagles. Bell wound up with 11 field goals and a game high 22 points. That's also his career high.

Social service office opens

Wayne County Department of Social Services has opened a new general services office at Plymouth and Inkster roads in Redford Township.

The new office is the 23rd opened under the Management Action Plan (MAP) launched in 1976 to replace eight crowded, substandard facilities.

The Redford Township facility at 27260 Plymouth Road opened Feb. 2 and serves the communities of Canton, Livonia, Northville, Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Redford Township and parts of Westland, Dearborn Heights and Detroit.

With a staff of 117 Wayne County DSS employees, the Redford Township office has been assigned 7,860 public assistance and social services cases.

Clients assigned to the new facility live in zip code areas 48127, formerly served by the 27407 Michigan Avenue office in Inkster, and 48150, 48152, 48154, 48167, 48170, 48239 and 48240, all formerly served by the 17330 Greendale office in Detroit.

Also, the Cherry Hill Road and north portion of 48185, 48187 and 48188, formerly served by the 38211 Van Born Road office in Romulus, and 48223, formerly served by the 15510 Joy Road office in Detroit are included.

Robert Lynn, formerly manager of the 6821 Medbury office in Detroit, is manager of the Redford Township facility. The opening of the new office was accompanied by caseload shifts in six out-county and west Detroit offices.

These offices and their newly defined service areas are as follows: — Inkster, 27407 Michigan Avenue, zip codes 48121, 48123, 48124, 48125, 48128, 48135 and 48141.

— Romulus, 38211 Van Born Road, zip codes 48111, 48132, 48164, 48174, 48184, 48185 south of Cherry Hill Road, and 48134.

— Taylor, 22050 Pennsylvania Road, zip codes 48138, 48173, 48180.

WHAT IS "THE LIVING WILL?"

"The Living Will" is a special form of will which has been designed for those who do not wish extreme methods of keeping their bodies alive should they become terminally ill. In part, it reads as follows:

"To my family, my physician, my lawyer and all others whom it may concern: ... If at such a time the situation should arise in which there is no reasonable expectation of my recovery from extreme physical or mental disability, I direct that I be allowed to die and not be kept alive by medications, artificial means, or heroic measures. ... This statement is made after careful consideration and is in accordance with my strong convictions and beliefs."

I conclude with the signature, date, two witnesses, as well as a list of those who have received a copy of "The Living Will".

"The Living Will" can be obtained by writing to — Concern for Dying, 250 W. 57th St., New York, N.Y. 10019. One copy is sent free, but donations are welcome.

Coughing can be very serious

By STANLEY E. BARTKIEWICZ, D.V.M.

Coughing may be the result of a variety of causes and is a symptom of an underlying problem. The problem may be as minor as an irritation from barking, or very severe, such as a dog suffering from heartworm disease.

A dog may come down with a disease called kennel cough or parainfluenza after staying in a kennel or a dog pound.

The disease is caused by a bacteria or virus that can be airborne and is highly contagious.

The coughing signs associated with kennel cough take four to 21 days to show after the dog has been exposed.

The cough begins as a moist productive cough, increasing in frequency day and night, turning into a dry, honking cough. Medication should be given to decrease the discomfort that accompanies the cough. The infection usually stays in the upper respiratory system and gradually disappears in about two weeks.

If there is more than one dog in your house, it is possible that the disease may be passed back and forth between the animals, each re-infecting the other. There is a vaccine that may be given, along with the distemper vaccination that will guard your dog against the viral form of kennel cough.

A dog suffering from heartworm disease will many times have a cough. The cough starts when the adult worms that are in the right side of the dog's heart die and travel into the lungs where they lodge in the smaller blood vessels. The cough associated with heartworm disease may be a permanent problem.

As a dog ages, it usually develops a leak in a heart valve which is called a mitral insufficiency. If the leak is severe enough, it will cause fluid to build up in the chest. This cough may be corrected with the use of diuretics (water pills) and possibly a digitalis-like drug. As the leak worsens, the coughing may also get worse.

Other problems that may lead to a cough include an infection of the lungs, some birth defects, and smoke inhalation irritation.

There are many possible causes to the cough.

The best advice I can give is that you take your coughing dog to your veterinarian so that the cause of the cough may be determined and the proper course of treatment started.

Local jails may detain prisoners

Local police chiefs, scheduled to meet with Wayne County Chief Circuit Court Judge Richard D. Dunn in Lincoln Park earlier in the week, are expected to be ordered, shortly, to start detaining prisoners destined for the county jail in a desperate move to help control an explosion in prisoner population that threatens to overwhelm the county's judiciary system.

Judge Dunn along with Chief Recorders Court Judge Samuel Gardner and Judge John Shamo of the Traffic and Ordinance Division, met in an all-day session Tuesday with members of the county's Public Safety Commission headed by Commissioner Edward K. Michalski, to find ways to reduce the county jail population that is within 12 of reaching the 1013 capacity mandated by the courts.

Judge Dunn, because of the near overpopulation at both the downtown jail and the Westland Annex, may be forced to follow the procedure of his predecessor John N. Canham who, in 1974, ordered local police agencies to detain their prisoners when Sheriff William Lucas refused, under court order, to accept them. At the time a class-action suit by prisoners resulted in a number of court mandated requirements including the establishment of a fixed number of male and female offenders that could be housed at any one time in the county jail. That figure, 724 males and 49 females, still stands today. The balance are sent to the "M" Building Annex which has an additional 14 cell blocks. Following the 1974 suit, four temporary barracks were renovated at DeHoCo where prisoners were housed from May 1, 1975 until November 1, 1976 at a cost of $1.5 million. The Annex cost the county an additional $2 million.

Members of the Public Safety Committee George F. Killeen, James Rashid, Vice-Chairman Delores Bennett and Michalski questioned the judges closely on the prospects of moving some 56 prostitutes to half-way houses, reducing bond which could allow another 15-45 male prisoners to leave, and speeding up the transfer of parole violators to state facilities.

Although both Judges Dunn and Gardner supported the release of prostitutes to make room for capital offenders—murderers and rapists—Judge Shamo, who attended the afternoon session, vehemently defended his action in sending prostitutes to jail rather than to half-way houses.

"The pimps practically run these houses," he argued. "If I put the girls in at noon they're back out on the streets by

VAN BUREN TOWNSHIP BOARD MEETING MINUTES

February 10, 1981
46425 Tyler Road - Belleville, Michigan 48111

The regularly scheduled Van Buren Township Board Meeting for February 10, at 7:30 P.M. was cancelled by Supervisor Cullin due to inclement weather conditions.

A Special Emergency Meeting of the Van Buren Township Board was called for February 10, at 1:30 P.M. by Supervisor Cullin to expedite those matters of importance that could not be delayed until the next regularly scheduled meeting.

Meeting called to order by Supervisor Cullin at 1:38 P.M. Pledge of Allegiance. Roll Call: Present: Cullin, Craven, Welty, Domen, Kureth, Toohey. Absent: Wojie. (Trustee Wojie was not able to be reached to inform him of the meeting time change.) Also present: Engineer Partridge, Secretary Dudick and two citizens.

Correspondence was not acted upon. Delayed until next meeting.

Old Business: Item #1. Sewer & Water Commission recommendation re: Schedule I for Water & Sewer Rates. No action.

Item #2. Sewer System Evaluation Survey Invoice #11. Motion Domen. Support Toohey to pay invoice as presented. CARRIED. Action was taken to remain current on the paying of bills.

Item #3. Recreation Commission recommendation re: Development of Softball Fields at Van Buren Park. Motion Domen, support Toohey to allow the development of 2 softball diamonds in the front 29 acres of Van Buren Park with actual site approval to be brought to the Board for approval and with the understanding that this is Township property and should it be needed for any other purpose they would have to relocate. CARRIED. Action was taken due to the fact that this item had been tabled previously and the Board felt incentive for the coming fund raiser was needed for those workers involved.

Item #4. Approval of Proposed Zoning Ordinance Changes. Motion Kureth to delay this item for the public to be present. Motion died for lack of support. Motion Welty, support Craven to approve the Zoning Ordinance changes as presented. Trustee Kureth called for a roll call vote. Ayes: Craven, Welty, Domen, Toohey and Cullin. Nays: Kureth. Motion CARRIED. Action was taken on this item because it had already been presented to the public in public hearings by the Planning Commission, and the Board had held to Work/Study Meetings to go over each area involved. Planner Rogers had indicated to the Supervisor that it was important to have it passed and published as soon as possible.

New Business: Item #1. Building Inspector requests to attend 12 week B.O.C.A. Code Course at Henry Ford Community College. No action taken.

Item #2. Wayne Oakland Library Federation — Deposit of credit toward cost of computer assistance. No action taken.

Item #3. Change order #5 — Ayres, Lewis — O'Neal Joint Venture. Motion Toohey, support Craven to approve the change order as presented. CARRIED. Action was taken in order continue work at the dam with no delays.

Vouches List: Motion Domen, support Welty to approve the Voucher List for the Water & Sewer and the General Fund as presented. CARRIED.

No action was taken on reports.

Motion Kureth, support Welty to adjourn. CARRIED.

The first meeting of the Landfill Commission will be held Wednesday, February 18, 1981 at 7:30 P.M. in the Supervisors Office.

PCHA unveils 4-year service program plan

More than one million citizens live in the 24 member communities and surrounding service area of PCHA in downriver and Western Wayne County and eastern Washtenaw County. The five hospitals in the authority are Annapolis in Wayne, Beyer Memorial in Ypsilanti, Outer Drive in Lincoln Park, Heritage in Taylor and Seaway in Trenton.

The Service Program Plan, covering the time period through 1984, highlights some 25 goals and objectives in categories of: Treatment and diagnostic services; administration and support services; and educational services.

It is important to realize, however, that the plan at this point is a broad "outlook," a conceptual statement of certain PCHA directions for the future. Specific projects are not detailed, and in many cases have not been determined. Such implementation would be worked out over the years and projects brought to the board for approval as they are developed.

"The program plan is first of all a statement by the board that we realize health needs are changing, and that we know it is our responsibility to the people to address those needs," Norton said. "For instance, PCHA recognizes the need to cooperate with other hospitals and health agencies to contain costs by avoiding duplication of services."

"In the future, consumers will see more joint planning, and in fact, such cooperation already has begun."

Some specialized types of health care may not be offered at every hospital because of a decrease in demand. PCHA recognized such an area of decreased need when Heritage Hospital was built without a maternity unit. One hospital in an area might be singled out as a regional center for such a service. Bed reduction plans being proposed by regulatory agencies make it especially important that hospitals work together in planning, rather than consider each other as "competitors," Norton added.

But while consolidating services where there is a decrease in need, the PCHA plans to address increased needs in other areas, such as mental health and alcohol and substance abuse. Heritage Hospital does have a mental health unit — 31 beds — and plans are in the works to add another 39 beds, plus an out-patient "day-care" service in mental health.

The "trend" in health care today is to get people out of hospital beds and treat them as out-patients whenever possible. This direction will be pursued by PCHA in several ways. For example, the program plan recommends that the board consider locating ambulatory care facilities, as well as physicians' office buildings, on or near PCHA hospital grounds to provide the 1-day treatment as an accessible alternative to a hospital stay.

Attention is paid to two other health areas — cardiac and pulmonary rehabilitation services, and long term care. Both relate back to one of the population characteristics noted when the planners were analyzing the people in the service area. The number of older citizens has increased and continues to increase, so services geared to their special needs will be a priority in future health care.

Because of the nature of PCHA as a multi-hospital system, PCHA also lists in its goals a plan to develop centralized and shared services for the five hospitals to maximize resources in such areas as warehousing, records storage and others.

Also, the authority hopes to develop a PCHA-wide patient education division to be used not only to help patients with their treatment, as is done now, but to expand the hospital's role into the community with "wellness" programs. The same educational resources would be used for the continual training of PCHA employees.

The cost of the proposals is estimated by PCHA planners at $40 to $60 million, but much of this money will come from the PCHA itself as it reinvests proceeds from operations.

The Long Range Planning Committee, a subcommittee of the 47-member PCHA Board of Directors, and the administrative staff, did the research and analysis for the program plan. But their work is not over.

The committee will review and update the plan annually, dropping off the year past and adding a new fifth year each time.

"It is important that the citizens of our service area know that we are continually planning for the future," said Pizzimenti. "Program development is not always as obvious as the building of a new hospital. But the health care programs within the hospitals must be continually reviewed and updated to suit the changing needs of the people."

Local jails may detain more prisoners

one o'clock. It's so bad the pimps go right into the half-way houses and drag the girls out. "Is it the fault of the half-way houses?" asked Killeen.

"Yes," the judge retorted, "there is very poor supervision. The girls just walk out. I sent one girl to half-way houses ten times and she was back on the streets the same day. There is absolutely no control!" It's a sad situation when the system begins to break down at that level," commented Killeen.

Judge Shamo told the committee he was willing to cooperate as much as possible, but the only alternative he had was the jail. "I don't know what the answer is," he said, "but these girls are beaten so badly by their pimps that the only place they feel safe is in jail. If I turn them loose on reduced bond," he added, "the homeowner associations start screaming. I have a duty to perform, too. If I don't, I might just as well step down as a judge."

While Judge Dunn and Gardner agreed to reduce bond on less violent prisoners, the action would, according to them, be a very temporary move.

"There is a vast increase in prisoner volume," Dunn explained. "Crime has jumped 10 percent since last year and most are capital offenses. I attribute it to the terrible economic climate. We're trying to keep up with the cases, but it's at the expense of civil cases. We've hit the peak of efficiency. In 1979 we had 44,000 cases on the docket, in 1980 it reached 44,400 and January alone is far above last year."

Dunn said he planned to ask the police chiefs Tuesday to pick up their own prisoners at the jail and transport them to court to facilitate transfers on to either freedom or prison. Sheriff Lucas, however, said this was not feasible because prisoners, once they are in the county jail, come under his custody and he becomes responsible for their appearance at court.

In questioning the slow movement of parolee violators, Gardner said the parole board had a 30-day hold on them. "Even if we reduced their bonds to $2,500," he said, "few of them would put up the money because they're headed for prison within a few days, anyway."

Dunn and Gardner agreed with the commissioners that more pressure should be put on the state to expedite the parolee transfers, however, Edward Nakfor, Region 1 Administrator for the Department of Corrections responsible for the parolee violators, said the state prisoners were already at capacity and "we just don't have any place to send them."

"The new men's section at Phoenix Prison near Northville," he explained, "is already filled."

"It looks like our hands are tied," commented Michalski. "Everywhere we turn for answers seems to have a dead-end."

AN ORDINANCE TO REGULATE FLEA MARKETS OR OTHER CASUAL SALES; TO REQUIRE LICENSED THEREFORE; AND TO PROVIDE PENALTIES FOR THE VIOLATION OF THIS ORDINANCE.

SECTION 517.100. SHORT TITLE: FLEA MARKET ORDINANCE.

THE CITY OF ROMULUS ORDAINS:

SECTION 517.101 DEFINITIONS: For the purpose of this ordinance the following definitions shall apply:

(a) "Garage Sale," "Attic Sale," "Lawn Sale" or "Rummage Sale," shall mean any sale of tangible personal property not otherwise regulated in the City of Romulus, and not falling within the exceptions of this ordinance, advertised in such a manner that the public at large is or can be made aware of such a sale, to last not more than three (3) consecutive days and to be constructed not more than three (3) times in any calendar year.

(b) "Flea Market," shall mean a market for which antiques and/or second-hand articles are sold from stands or counters, pavilions, tents or buildings.

(c) "Goods," shall mean any goods, warehouse merchandise or their property capable of being the object of a sale regulated hereunder.

SECTION 517.200 LICENSE REQUIRED: A license issued by the City Clerk shall be obtained by any person, firm, group, corporation or organization before selling or offering to sell any goods at a sale advertised or conducted so as to come within the prescription of 517.101(b).

SECTION 517.201 APPLICATION FOR LICENSE: An application for a license for any of the sales regulated hereunder shall be made at the office of the City Clerk on a form prepared by the Clerk to be provided therefore, which application shall contain the following information:

(a) Name of the person, firm, group, corporation, association or organization conducting said sale.

(b) Location at which said sale is to be conducted and the date and nature of any prior sales conducted at the same location.

(c) The dates during which said sale or business is to be conducted within the time limits hereinafter prescribed.

(d) Date, nature and location of any past sale or business conducted by the applicant.

SECTION 517.202 LICENSE FEES: A license fee in the amount of Two Hundred and Fifty ($250.00) Dollars shall be paid to the City of Romulus at the time of submittal of the application for a Flea Market license, which license shall continue in effect from the date of issuance until December 31, of that year.

SECTION 517.203 CONDITIONS OF LICENSE: License described herein shall be subject to the following conditions:

(a) No person shall conduct, advertise, or promote a Flea Market or any sale regulated by this ordinance without a license issued as prescribed herein.

(b) No signs advertising a sale regulated by this ordinance shall be placed on public property or within the public right-of-way or on any utility pole or on any private property, except that one (1) sign advertising the sale may be placed on the property of the owner.

(c) Any sale to be conducted for a period longer than five (5) consecutive days, shall comply with the licensing provisions of Section 517.203.

(d) The license authorizing such sale shall be displayed in the front window or other prominent place, clearly visible from the street, at the location where the sale is being conducted.

(e) Sales regulated by this ordinance shall not be conducted in temporary structures.

(f) No sales regulated by this ordinance shall be conducted in Public Parks.

(g) Flea Market Licenses shall be subject to the following specific conditions:

1. The minimum area of the site shall be Twenty Five Thousand (25,000) square feet with a minimum street frontage of One Hundred (100) feet.

2. A Five (5) foot fence or wall shall be constructed along the rear and sides of the lot, capable of keeping paper and other debris from blowing off the premises.

3. A Flea Market shall provide suitable health, sanitary and toilet facilities.

4. Lighting shall be installed in a manner which will not create a traffic hazard on abutting streets or a glare or direct illumination onto adjacent properties.

5. Off-street parking areas shall be paved or hard-surfaced with a substitute acceptable to the Zoning Board of Appeals. Relief from the hard-surfacing requirements may be provided by the Zoning Board of Appeals upon a showing of practical difficulties, or unnecessary hardship.

SECTION 517.300 EXCEPTIONS, EXEMPTIONS: Exceptions and exemptions to regulations herein provided are as follows:

(a) Persons selling goods pursuant to an order or process of a court of competent jurisdiction.

(b) Persons acting in accordance with their powers and duties as public officials.

(c) Any person selling or advertising for sale an item or items of personal property in a manner described or defined in Section 101(a).

(d) Any sale regulated under any other provisions of the Ordinance of the City of Romulus.

(e) Any sale conducted by any merchant or mercantile or other business establishment from or at a place of business wherein such sale would be permitted by the Zoning Regulations of the City of Romulus or under the protection of the presently non-conforming section thereof, or any other sale conducted by a manufacturer, dealer, or vendor, and which sale would be conducted from properly zoned premises and not otherwise prohibited by the Ordinances of the City of Romulus.

(f) Any bonafide charitable, eleemosynary, religious, educational, cultural or governmental institution or organization, provided, however, that the burden of establishing the exemption under this subsection shall be on the organization, provided, however, that the burden of establishing the exemption under this subsection shall be on the organization or institution claiming such exemption.

(g) Auction by lawfully qualified auctioneer.

SECTION 517.400 REVOCATION: The City Council may, at any time, suspend or revoke any license granted under this ordinance and order the place of business of the licensee to be closed. All licenses granted hereunder are issued and accepted with the understanding that they are subject to suspension or revocation at the will of the City Council.

SECTION 517.401 In case of such suspension or revocation, the Chief of Police or his duly authorized representative shall cause to be served upon the holder of the license so suspended or revoked, or the person in charge of the business, notice in writing of such action by City Council. No person shall continue to operate such business after the service upon him of such notice or suspension or revocation. Provided, however, that before any license granted under the provision of this ordinance is suspended or revoked, charges in writing shall be proffered against the licensee whose license it is sought to suspend or revoke. Such charges shall be served upon the licensee and the licensee shall be given a hearing at the next Council meeting at the next Council meeting not less than ten (10) days following notice of such charges in writing, and at such hearing said licensee shall have an opportunity to present written and oral evidence in its defense.

SECTION 517.500 SEVERABILITY: The various parts, sections and clauses of this ordinance are hereby declared to be severable. If any part, sentence, paragraph, section or clause is adjudged unconstitutional or invalid by a court of competent jurisdiction, the remainder of the ordinance shall not be affected thereby. All other ordinances inconsistent with the provisions of this ordinance are, to the extent of such inconsistencies, hereby repealed.

SECTION 517.600 PENALTIES: Any person, firm, group, corporation, or organization violating any of the provisions of the ordinance shall, upon conviction thereof, be subject to a fine of not more than Five Hundred ($500.00) Dollars or imprisonment for a period not more than Ninety (90) days, or to both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the Court.

SECTION 517.700 EFFECTIVE DATE: This ordinance shall take immediate effect upon publication in the official newspaper.

Leonard J. Folmar, Clerk
City of Romulus

I, Leonard J. Folmar, Clerk for the City of Romulus do hereby certify the foregoing to be a true copy of an ordinance duly adopted by the Romulus City Council at their regular meeting held on the 27th day of January, 1981.

Leonard J. Folmar, Clerk
City of Romulus

ATTEST: William M. Oakley, Mayor

Within forty-five (45) days after the publication of any ordinance duly passed by the Council, a petition may be presented to the Council protesting against such ordinance continuing in effect. Said petition shall contain the text of such ordinance and shall be signed by not less than six (6%) percent of the registered electors registered at the last preceding election at which a Mayor of the City was elected. Said ordinance shall thereupon and thereby be suspended from operation and the Council shall immediately reconsider such ordinance.

Lt. Renke begins helicopter duty at Oson Air Force Base

Lt. David Renke

Second Lt. David Renke, son of Philip and Michelle Renke of Wabash Street, Romulus, has reported to Oson Air Force Base in South Korea for his first assignment as a Helicopter Pilot in the Air Force.

Lt. Renke received his Officer's Training at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, and graduated from flight school last August at Ft. Rucker, Alabama. After graduation from flight school, he underwent a month of survival training at Fairchild Air Force Base in Washington, and three months of advanced flight training at Kirtland Air Force Base in New Mexico.

Lt. Renke is a 1975 graduate of Aquinas High School, and a 1979 graduate of Michigan State University.

Marine Pvt. Mark S. Stoll, son of Wanda C. and Stuart N. Stoll Jr. of 10445 Borgman St., Belleville, Mich., was graduated from Basic Aerographer's Mate School.

The 15-week course at the Service School Command Detachment, Chanute Air Force Base, Ill., is designed to prepare students for duty as military weather forecasters. Trainees studied basic meteorology, weather charting and the operation of standard meteorological and oceanographic measurement equipment.

A 1980 graduate of Belleville High School, he joined the Marine Corps in June 1980.

Michael J. and Josephene Falzone of 33342 Willow Road, New Boston, recently participated in exercise "Kernel Usher 1-81."

He is a member of the 2nd Battalion, 5th Marines, based at Camp Pendleton, Calif.

Conducted on San Clemente Island, the exercise was designed to reinforce the amphibious landing capabilities of the 5th Marines. It involved reconnaissance patrols, helicopter assaults, and a mock rescue of six prisoners. The extensive cooperation between the Navy and Marine Corps units highlighted the exercise.

Falzone joined the Marine Corps in April 1978.

John T. Manning, 18, son of John and Lee Manning, 6699 Belleville Rd., has entered the U. S. Air Force's Delayed Enlistment Program (EDP).

According to Technical Sergeant Roy Smith, the Air Force recruiter here, Manning's entry into the DEP serves two purposes. First, it allows the Air Force to schedule an opening for him to attend basic training and be assigned to a job or skill area. Second, the DEP enables Manning to wrap up his personal affairs before leaving home.

Manning will enter the Regular Air Force on May 26. Following graduation from the six-week basic training course at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex., he will receive technical training in the electronics aptitude area and be assigned to an Air Force duty station.

Navy Fireman Brian S. Marschner, son of Harold Marschner of 27523 Bordeaux, Romulus, and Nancy Marschner of 563 Le Blanc, Lincoln Park, Mich., has completed recruit training at the Naval Training Center, Orlando, Fla.

During the eight-week training cycle, trainees studied general military subjects designed to prepare them for further academic and on-the-job training in one of the Navy's 85 basic occupational fields.

Included in their studies were seamanship, close order drill, Naval history and first aid.

A 1980 graduate of Lincoln Park High School, he joined the Navy in November 1980.

3C. Motion by Block, supported by Cantrell, to adopt Resolution 81-017:

RESOLUTION 81-017

WHEREAS: Act No. 198 of the Public Acts of 1974 is designed to provide a stimulus in the form of significant tax incentives to industry to renovate and/or expand aging plants and to build new plants in Michigan; and

WHEREAS: Under the provisions of the Act, a local governmental unit in which the total property tax is at least thirty (30) mills may establish property tax incentives to attract new plants to the area; and

WHEREAS: Said Act provides that a firm may apply for and be issued an Industrial Facilities Exemption Certificate which entitles the facility to exemption from ad valorem real and personal property taxes for a period of twelve (12) years. In lieu of the property tax, the firm will pay a specific tax known as the Industrial Facility Tax. The Industrial Facility Tax for a new plant in an industrial development district is determined by the ad valorem property tax levied by the municipality instead, however, of using the total mills levied, only half the millage rate is applied; and

WHEREAS: Said Act provides that seventy-five (75%) percent of the owners of property to be affected by any proposed industrial development district may apply to the local governmental unit for the establishment of an industrial district; and

WHEREAS: Woolf Aircraft Products, Incorporated, did on January 22, 1981, submit a request to the City of Romulus to establish an industrial development district, its description as follows:

Part of the Northeast 1/4 of Section 6, T3S R9E Beginning North 89° 18M 02S East 43 feet from the Center 1/4 corner of Section 6, thence due North 350.02 feet, thence North 89° 18M 02S East 1284.91 feet, thence South 0° 11M 12S East 350.01 feet. Thence South 89° 18M 02S West 1286.05 feet to the point of beginning 10.33 acres; and

WHEREAS: The Woolf Aircraft Products, Incorporated, represents more than seventy-five (75%) percent of the property owners to be included in the aforementioned district as required by the provisions of Public Act 198; and

WHEREAS: Public Act 198 requires that a public hearing be held to hear any objections to, and all reasons for, the establishment of such an industrial development district when a request is received by the local municipality for the establishment of such a district; and

WHEREAS: The City Council of the City of Romulus is cognizant of the critical employment situation existing within its corporate limits compounded by an equally critical employment situation in the State and indeed the Country; and

WHEREAS: The establishment of the requested industrial development district would go far to encourage the Woolf Aircraft Products, Incorporated to continue with additional projects on this site resulting in additional jobs for the citizens of the City of Romulus, as well as, a substantial increase to the City's tax base.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED: That the City Council of the City of Romulus hold a Public Hearing on February 24, 1981, at 7:30 p.m. in the Romulus City Council Chamber, 11111 Wayne Road, Romulus, Michigan, to take testimony from any and all parties having objections to the establishment of the requested industrial development district and to take testimony from any and all parties having reason to support the establishment of the requested industrial development district.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED: That copies of this resolution be forwarded to all property owners within the proposed boundaries of said industrial development district, to all units of government currently levying ad valorem tax on property included in the proposed industrial development district, and that a copy of this resolution together with a notice of public hearing be published at least once in the official newspaper of the City of Romulus not less than five (5) days preceding the hearing.

Roll call vote showing: Ayes - Block, Canejo, Raspberry, Yeramian, Cantrell, Rush, Banks. Nays - None. Motion carried unanimously.

4A. Motion by Cantrell, supported by Rush, to concur with the recommendation of Chairman Banks and thereby adopt Resolution 81-018:

RESOLUTION 81-018

WHEREAS: The City Council of the City of Romulus and its Administrative Officials, in behalf of the Citizens of Romulus, join all America in welcoming home the fifty two (52) freed Americans held hostage in Tehran, Iran, four hundred and forty-four (444) days; specifically,

Charles A. Jones, Jr. and Joseph Subic, Jr. and,

WHEREAS: We, the citizens of this nation, are outraged at the action of the Iranian terrorists and the suffering caused you and your loved ones, and the suffering caused to the American people; and

WHEREAS: We, the citizens of the City of Romulus, thank each of the fifty-two (52) freed Americans for the courage shown throughout the ordeal, and for your patience while being held four hundred and forty-four (444) days in captivity.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED: We welcome you home to family, to friends, and to the freedom of the United States of America, and all share in the joy of your homecoming.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED: That the City Council of the City of Romulus do hereby proclaim that Charles A. Jones, Junior and Joseph Subic, Junior, shall, from this date, be honorary citizens of the City of Romulus.

Motion by Rush, supported by Yeramian, to accept the Mayor's report. Roll call vote showing: Ayes - Block, Canejo, Raspberry, Yeramian, Cantrell, Rush, Banks. Nays - None. Motion carried unanimously.

6A1. Motion by Rush, supported by Yeramian, to adopt Resolution 81-026:

RESOLUTION 81-026

WHEREAS: Over a period of several months, the City of Romulus has received many notifications of application for Adult Foster Care homes to be located in the City of Romulus, and the number of applications continue to increase and

WHEREAS: It has come to the attention of the City Council of the City of Romulus that applications are being submitted for state license on existing homes that may not meet state requirements, but are being recommended for license approval simply because those in charge of finding suitable homes are being pressured to meet a deadline and/or quota; and

WHEREAS: The City of Romulus is presently considering two (2) applications, 10005 Miriam and 29799 Ecorse Road, which do not meet minimum state requirements. Some of the inadequacies are as follows:

1. Undersized bedrooms.
2. Inadequate parking.
3. Inadequate Bathroom facilities.
4. Inadequate or ill-set furnace.
5. The 29799 Ecorse Road location is on one of the most heavily traveled highways in the City. That portion of Ecorse Road not only connects two (2) expressways, it is in the vicinity of one of the nations largest commercial airports, and is the home of many truck terminals.

WHEREAS: Should those two (2) applications be approved, this City, a City of twenty four thousand, (24,000) population, will have five (5) foster care facilities, with the sixth (6th) application pending, far beyond the per capita distribution of surrounding communities.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED: That the City Council of the City of Romulus does hereby implore, if not demand, that the Governor and Legislators of this State accept the responsibility of the office to which they are elected, specifically to protect the health, safety, and welfare of the citizens of this community by placing an immediate moratorium on license approval of foster care homes until a plan for equal distribution, throughout the state, on a per capita basis is formulated. Further, that the welfare of the patients of foster care facilities be protected by assuring the homes meet minimum state guidelines, prior to approvals.

BE IT FINALLY RESOLVED: That copies of this resolution be forwarded to Governor Milliken, Senator Faust, Representatives Owen and Mahalak, and all surrounding communities.

Roll call vote showing: Ayes - Rush, Raspberry, Yeramian, Block, Canejo, Banks. Nays - None. Abstain - Cantrell. Motion carried.

Motion by Rush, supported by Yeramian, to direct a communication to the State Department of Social Services requesting that they disapprove the issuance of a license for Adult Foster Care Homes at 10005 Miriam and 29799 Ecorse Roads, Romulus, Michigan; due to failure of the aforementioned homes to meet the following minimum state requirements, and other inadequacies:

1. Undersized bedrooms.
2. Inadequate parking.
3. Inadequate Bathroom facilities.
4. Inadequate or ill-set furnace.
5. The 29799 Ecorse Road location is on one of the most heavily traveled highways in the City. That portion of Ecorse Road not only connects two (2) expressways, it is in the vicinity of one of the nations largest commercial airports, and is the home of many truck terminals.

Roll call vote showing: Ayes - Rush, Cantrell, Yeramian, Block, Canejo, Raspberry, Banks. Nays - None. Motion carried unanimously.

6A3. Motion by Yeramian, supported by Canejo, to issue a No-fee Permit to VFW Club and Progressive Club for rental hall. Roll call vote showing: Ayes - Rush, Yeramian, Canejo, Raspberry, Block, Cantrell, Banks. Nays - None. Motion carried unanimously.

8A. Motion by Raspberry, supported by Yeramian, to table Chapter 710, Fireworks Ordinance for further clarification from the Attorney. Roll call vote showing: Ayes - Raspberry, Canejo, Block, Rush, Cantrell, Yeramian, Banks. Nays - None. Motion carried unanimously.

8B. Motion by Cantrell, supported by Raspberry, to adopt Chapter 517, an Ordinance to regulate Flea Markets or other casual sales; to require license therefore; and to provide penalties for the violation of this ordinance. Roll call vote showing: Ayes - Yeramian, Cantrell, Block, Rush, Canejo, Raspberry, Banks. Nays - None. Motion carried unanimously.

10B. Motion by Raspberry, supported by Rush, request that the Mayor and/or another elected official or Patrick Hogan, Community Development Director, attend the National League of Cities Congressional-City Conference in Washington, D.C., February 28 through March 3, 1981. Roll call vote showing: Ayes - Raspberry, Cantrell, Block, Yeramian, Canejo, Rush, Banks. Nays - None. Motion carried unanimously.

12. Motion by Yeramian, supported by Rush, to pay City Warrant 81-14, dated January 27, 1981, Voucher 37367 through 37498, in the grand total amount of $358,525.31. Roll call vote showing: Ayes - Block, Canejo, Yeramian, Rush, Banks. Abstain - Raspberry, Cantrell. Motion carried.

13. Motion by Block, supported by Yeramian, to adjourn the meeting. Roll call vote showing: Ayes - Raspberry, Canejo, Block, Yeramian, Cantrell, Rush, Banks. Nays - None. Motion carried unanimously.

(*) denotes change.

Respectfully submitted,
Leonard J. Folmar, Clerk
City of Romulus

I, Leonard J. Folmar, City Clerk for the City of Romulus, do hereby certify the foregoing to be a true copy of the minutes of the regular meeting of the Romulus City Council held on the 27th day of January, 1981.

Cable TV proposal should be approved

Cable TV has been around for a long time, but it hasn't been until recently that it has stirred the emotions and caused the controversy, especially in Westland, that it has.

The reason for much of the controversy in Westland is that, instead of inviting a private cable TV company to build and run the system, the city is considering the possibility of ownership of the cable system.

Although the concept of a municipality owning a cable TV system is not new — a score of cities across the United States own such systems — it is new for the area. And anytime a new concept is introduced usually sides are taken.

The proponents of municipality — owned cable TV argue that there is much to gain for a city to own its own system that the revenues generated from the system will help stabilize if not lower the taxes in the city. They argue that no tax dollars will be used in the creation of the system and present a reasonable argument that it is ludicrous to allow someone else to run a system and take all the profits where the city and its residents can use such profits to build a better community.

The antagonists say that government should not invade the homes, that 1984 is just around the corner, that cable TV is just another way of infringing upon the liberty and freedom of the citizen.

The antagonists feel that taxpayer money will eventually be used to support the system.

That may be so, but we can't buy it. The citizens always have the right to put a stop to anything they don't like. If the system isn't working the way they want, they can change it at the polls. They can elect officials who will serve them, not turn their faces to their needs.

We believe that voters should vote "Yes" for cable TV.

We believe it deserves an opportunity to see if it will work.

3. If it doesn't, you can always turn it off.

Tax Money determines quality of life for many

The economic crunch being felt all over the nation is also taking its toll in Westland.

City residents are being asked to approve a 1.5 mill tax increase for the next two years at a special election next Tuesday. The additional tax dollars are required just to maintain current city services.

If the proposal is approved, it will cost each homeowner approximately $30 per year or $2.50 per month.

Federal and State governments have drastically slashed financial support to all local governments — a cut that will mean a loss of $1.2 million Westland expected to receive. Federal and State government has less money to return to cities because they rely on personal income taxes and corporate taxes for their revenues. The severe recession has cut off these sources.

As a result, Westland is assured a loss of at least $1.2 million that it expected to receive from the state and federal government in each of the next two years. And even with the passage of Tuesday's proposal, the millage increase will generate only $900,000 of the $1.2 million lost to the city. Therefore, some cuts in city services will have to be made even with the passage of the 1.5 mills for two years.

Loss of the $1.2 million will result in cuts in services providing police and fire protection, road maintenance, recreation programs and senior citizen services.

No one wants to pay higher taxes, that's for sure. But what about the alternative in these economically depressed times that are unprecedented in our generation?

We urge Westland voters to go to the polls and vote for the two-year increase.

First of all, it means only $30 per year more to each homeowner.

Secondly, the city has done its part in cutting costs. Over the past five years, it combined four departments into two, reducing staff and overhead. It adopted a self-insurance program which saves $100,000 per year. It combined four departments into two, reducing staff and overhead, implemented energy-saving programs for city-owned buildings that cut energy use 30 percent, and initiated a program of selling surplus city-owned property which brings in an additional $100,000 per year.

Could any further city service be cut? Of course — but not without visibly reducing essential city services and incurring the wrath of those who would suffer correspondingly from those cuts in service.

Lastly, and very importantly, the proposed millage is only for two fiscal years, July 1, 1981 and July 1, 1982. It is anticipated that the nation's economy will recover and rebound sufficiently to allow resumption of additional federal and state support to local governments.

Operating millage in Westland has never been increased — it is still

Support for Cable TV

There has been so much controversy about Cable TV and city-owned cable TV systems, that I felt your readers and the newspapers should be aware that not all of us are against such systems.

At a recent meeting of the Western Wayne Republican Club, and a follow up poll of the Westland members of the organization, it was determined that the following resolution be adopted:

"The members of the Republican Club from Westland would like to go on record as supporting the 1 1/2 mil increase over a two year period and the adoption of the municipally owned Cable TV System for the City of Westland."

Since the City of Westland was incorporated some 15 years ago, the city has operated under an 8 mil limit. Rising cost and severe inflation, however, is now taking its toll.

Services have continued to grow as Westland has a financial crunch.

The city is no longer able to provide the same services under our current 8 mil limit. Deep cut-backs will be necessary unless milage relief is granted. We urge the voters to help ease the financial pressures by passing the 1 1/2 mil increase on February 24th.

We feel also the second proposition of municipally owned TV would be of great value to the city. The benefits are many, such as the preservation of life, protection of the home, and community involvement to name just a few. We are of course concerned as are others that in establishing this system that planning and cost control be adhered to. We also advocate that individual rights be protected in that this system be offered to the citizens of this community as a voluntary program. We urge the acceptance of this proposition on February 24th.

All about stop signs and forsenics

Van Buren Township was notified last month by the Wayne County Road Commission that stop signs will be erected at Van Buren and Millard streets.

The commission explained in a letter that the stop signs are being put up in the interest of public safety and because the signs are needed to regulate, warn or guide traffic at the intersection.

According to the commission's letter, vehicle traffic will stop on Van Buren at Millard, and vehicle traffic on Millard will stop at a three-way stop sign at Van Buren.

Belleville High School forensics team recently competed in the Catholic league tournament, which was sponsored by Bishop Borgess High School in Redford.

It was the second of four "sequence" tournaments which enable the winners to qualify for the national tournament to be held in March.

To qualify, a student must place in one of the top six places in his event.

Qualifying for Belleville were: in extempore speaking, Diane Bechel, placing 6th. In Declamation: Lisa Wood, 3rd place, and Patti Gilbert, 6th place. Also qualifying, in Serious Interpretation: Karen Hardy, placing 6th, and in Humorous Interpretation: Paul Deniston, placing 6th.

Others competing for Belleville were: Brenda Hardy, Barb Fairman, Ann Askew, Sherrie Butler, and Phil Smelt.

City at crossroads

By TOM MOORADIAN
Managing Editor

Like hundreds, literally thousands of cities across the United States, the city of Wayne is at a crossroad in its history. City officials, saddled with an inflated currency and scrounging to make ends meet, can sit back and do nothing.

There is no foreign capital that these officials can lure here; no big money people, to help rejuvenate, rebuilt the scars of time; no power — or let us say a very limited power — to raise taxes.

Wayne's city officials and the council can sit back and "do nothing." They don't have to rock the proverbial boat. They can take their salaries and go through the motions, as the saying goes.

But they chose not to. They want this community — no matter how small or insignificant it may be to others — to be the best. They want the best for their families and their children. And because they seek the best, they will encounter the factions of "the status quo"; the "don't touch it, it's good as it is" people.

The administration and council have committed themselves to making this community a "viable one." Toward that end council has established an ordinance that creates a Downtown Development Authority. It also singles out a commercial area for improvement which takes in most of the Michigan Avenue strip and the northside business district.

The job of putting together a general plan for the revitalization of the heart of Wayne was assigned to planner Gerald Luedtke. That plan was an ambitious one, but even as each facet of the proposed plan was unveiled by Luedtke and his associates, there was an air of skepticism by some of the members of the community.

There are always those who have to see to believe. There are those who believe and don't have to see. They know that progress is assigned to the few men of vision. And there are only a few who have that innate ability to understand something without having to go over and over and over it.

One man was so irate over the attempt by city officials to rebuild this city that he advocated that "council be recalled". Ironically, it is people like these who tell officials of government "that we need change. We need improvements. We need to bring business into the city. Bring in industry."

But when change is imminent — these same people fight it.

One can be outraged by ignorance. But we advocate patience. We believe change for the good will come to Wayne and the surrounding communities because the lessons of the past have taught us that the stagnant stinks. Then dies.

Wayne is at a vital crossroad in its long history. Its elected officials are asking its citizens to listen to proposals, take part in dialogue, offer suggestions and recommendations on how to make the city a place where each can enjoy a better life.

The role each and every citizen plays can be crucial. To scream "recall" before the curtains even go up is ridiculous to say the least.

Those of us who remember the cobbled streets, the trolleys and horse-drawn milk carts may not understand what is going on, but it doesn't cost anything to listen.

And that's about all the city officials in Wayne are asking of you.

Business doesn't need any more enemies

By RICHARD L. LESHER
President Chamber of Commerce of The United States

There is no longer any disagreement that America's economic problems are deeply imbedded, that they will not be cured overnight and that we all share the responsibility of promoting an extended recovery.

Nor should anyone be surprised that we who represent business in Washington have been working to change the tax code, because we are convinced taxes must be cut to promote long-term capital formation by encouraging savings and investment.

What might surprise you, however, is that many businesses themselves might not be taking full advantage of the current tax laws. Indeed, it seems ironic that while we are trying hard to get business a tax cut, there is a possibility some firms have been unwilling to give themselves a tax cut. In effect, thousands of firms continue to use a method of inventory accounting which, because of inflation, obliges them to pay as extra funds which might be used for expansion, capital replacement or dividends. The stakes can be big.

Indeed, certain firms which have switched their accounting procedures have realized billions of dollars in tax savings. For example, Reginald H. Jones, chairman of General Electric, estimates his corporation alone has saved roughly $1 billion in taxes.

The most common method of inventory accounting on income statements which raises business taxes is called FIFO, while the method which lowers them is called LIFO. One essential difference between the two is that the FIFO method fails to adjust inventory costs for inflation. Thus, when these unadjusted, or lower, costs are subtracted from earnings during a period of rising prices, the earnings will remain artificially high and the firm will face a higher tax bill than it would have under LIFO.

Why do so many companies stick with FIFO? Some people believe the firms are merely trying to impress their shareholders with their ability to maintain high earnings despite worsening inflation. Personally, I am skeptical of this explanation, for the stock market is rarely fooled and those who follow corporate America from Wall Street have some of the best analytical minds in the country. Reginald Jones believes the reason may be that most top executive contracts are tied to reported earnings which leads business leaders to be overly concerned with short-term profitability.

Nevertheless, there do seem to be legitimate reasons for not switching inventory methods. First, to make the switch in most instances a firm must obtain a ruling from the IRS, which can be difficult. In the case of small business, many firms simply cannot afford the accounting costs of adopting the LIFO procedure. Then too, even for larger firms the administrative costs of switching to LIFO may actually outweigh the newly-realized tax savings.

One point we should all remember is that the real culprit here is not a particular accounting method, but inflation itself. So aside from adopting credible policies that will attack inflation in a sustained and meaningful way, Congress should also reexamine the regulations and tax laws that impede firms from adjusting their inventory costs for inflation.

For their part, business leaders reexamine their own inventory accounting procedures to be sure their firms do not suffer from a fixation on short-term earnings. At the very time our economy is plagued by a critical shortage of investment capital and a real decline in profits, the last thing the business community should do is to encourage an already cynical public into believing its earnings are much greater than they really are. That will only strengthen the hand of economic illiterates who scream about "obscene profits" and who demand more government regulations.

We have enough problems now without adding to our burdens. Let's not have it be said that we have finally met the enemy, and he is us.

Teachers and parents

EDITOR — This is in answer to an editorial that appeared in last week's edition of the Associated Newspapers.

Woe is to the parent who believes that it is only the teachers who have the responsibility of educating their child. Your child needs all of the support that he can get to enable him to continue his life and to take over our responsibilities when we are no longer here.

So sometimes your child does ask you to help him with a project!

Have you ever observed a child show all of the other children in his class something that his mother or dad has helped him make?

The child is happy and oh so proud, his classmates share his joy.

How do you feel when your child comes home with an award for achievement or a good report card? Surely you are proud and praise him for his success. You certainly would not turn away and show no interest. My husband and I are also taxpayers.

We have seen our four children graduate from the Wayne/Westland schools. We have always been supportive of them and their teachers. We are proud to have seen them grow into self-supporting young adults.

Believe me Mom and Dad helped. We assisted with projects, listened to Dick and Jane, listened to their multiplication tables; listened to musical instruments; and we listened to gripes and complaints when things were not going right for them.

Since when does a child's education begin at 9 A.M. and end at 3:30 P.M.?

We were not doing the teachers' job. We were doing our share of helping our children grow.

As working parents we made time for what we felt was important such as listening to and assisting our children.

A child survives on the love and support of his parents, friends and teachers. With this behind him he is aware of his responsibility to grow into the very best person he can.

We as parents and educators gain great satisfaction from seeing our children grow into fine young adults. The time we spend now on our children bring rewards.

Please Mom and Dad give your child the support that he needs, take time to listen to them and help them. You are the most important people in their lives. Your rewards are just starting.

Longtime listening parent.

Where's the coverage?

EDITOR — I am writing this letter because I am quite upset about your lack of reporting in Sumpter Township.

Being that this a local newspaper one would assume you would print the local news; however, that is not always the case with your newspaper. Perhaps, I should word that a little different. You do print the local news with the exception of local news from Sumpter Township.

The only way that the residents have of being informed about our community is to read the Ypsilanti Press which prints all the news as it happens. I see that the only thing you print of Sumpter, faithfully, is the minutes of the board meetings and for that you get paid. Could that be one of the reasons, or THE reason?

Are you worried that to print the news, like it is, would make someone angry and they in turn would pull out their account. I'm surprised that you could be intimidated.

Maybe to you 35 cents is not a lot of money for a newspaper, (although it is the most expensive in the entire area) but if you were a Sumpter resident and the local newspaper did not print the local news of Sumpter residents could buy your newspaper and learn of nearly everything that happened in our township the prior week. Now all we read about is what happened in all the surrounding communities.

If you feel you cannot print the news of Sumpter, then you should be courteous enough to notify those individuals who subscribe to your newspaper and who live in Sumpter so that they are aware. You wouldn't do that because they would cancel their subscription.

You should also place a notice on the front of the newspaper informing Sumpter residents that you are no longer printing news of Sumpter. You wouldn't do that either because you would not sell any papers at the newsstands in Sumpter Township.

Let me correct myself. When you have bestowed us with the honor of "mentioning" updates of Sumpter, you condoned the articles so much they would have been better left unsaid. You must have needed something to fill the extra space in your newspaper with.

There was an excellent reporter named Bob Ameen who use to print the news in Sumpter but I have learned that he is no longer covering the news in our area. That's really too bad.

I suppose Mr. Ameen told it like it was too many times and that caused a bit of unrest among those who would have rather it not been printed.

I think the Detroit News call this from of reporting "investigative" while some in Sumpter called it "biased". I would be better called "truthful reporting". If they can't stand the heat they should remove themselves from the fire. You had a reporter named Carrie Young who printed many articles of this nature and she was given an award. Why all of a sudden the change in attitude? I might add that the editor of the Detroit News backs his reporters all the way.

It's a gross injustice to the residents of Sumpter for you to pick and choose which communities you think it best to print about and where you will get the least amount of flak.

I am sure there are many things happening in Sumpter Township as well as all other communities that are not very pleasant to read about but then again one must realize that all news is not good news but it is news. This is the purpose of any newspaper. To print the news as it happens without fear of reprisal.

I will leave it up to you to print or not to print this letter in your paper. I just thought I would give you my opinion on this particular topic. I would give you my opinion on this particular topic. I do not go out of the house very much so the only way I can find out about my community is word of mouth and reading the local newspapers.

Because you are not printing the news in Sumpter I see no need to purchase your newspaper any long.

Cable TV and OMNICON

EDITOR — I wish to report on a Cable TV debate at the Carolan Condominium Association meeting of Feb. 5 in which Mayor Taylor debated Councilwoman Neal. Mrs. Neal had some interesting comments regarding the fact that she was not basically against city owned CATV. She was inclined to vote down city owned cable TV because she considered the bidding process improper. If you recall OMNICON won the bid due to a lack of bidders.

In addition Councilwoman Neal has concerns that lease money cannot be contracted for like a mortgage. City tax money should not be used to bail out lease payments or operating management payments.

I don't know if the petitioners lacked the foresight to place additional CATV questions on the ballot. But the question on the ballot is:

Are you in favor of city ownership for CATV?

Maybe these questions should also have been added to the ballot to direct the Mayor and City Council:

Should the City Council contract for any Cable TV in Westland?

Whether CATV is city owned or franchised, should the award be re-bid?

For city owned CATV are you in favor of city taxes to be used for lease or operating payments?

Since these other questions are not on the ballot concerned citizens better have some faith in our city government. In addition citizens will have to communicate better with our city officials will have to accept new ways of developing alternatives and citizen consensus. The Mayor's CATV task force of citizen volunteers was good but the level of involvement was too limited. The idea of citizen study groups may be a wave of the future to head off confrontations and petition drives.

Finally let us look beyond the city owned CATV vote. In either case of city ownership or franchise, if CATV is re-bid what would happen?

I think that re-bidding has been tainted by the fact that our city council may have made a mistake in granting zoning to OMNICON for its tower on Hix Road. With that tower blinking at us in the night, do you really think that OMNICON would lose face having another cable company in Westland?

I don't see OMNICON moving its tower out of the city without a court award. The only fair way to re-bid the contracts would be to shut out OMNICON. I cannot see that happening without a court fight tying up cable TV for a few years.

Maybe city owned cable TV would not be bad after all with the current contract award. I even see a lot of citizens supporting the system by buying basic cable TV.

I have nothing against the stands by Mayor Taylor or Councilwoman Neal on the question of city owned CATV. It's just that all the questions are not clear.

operating under the original 8-mill limitation established in 1966 when Westland was incorporated into a city.

Some 10.3 to 11.8 cents of every property tax dollar goes to support city services. The remaining 88 to 90 cents goes to underwrite local schools, county, PCHA, local community colleges, sanitation authority, police and fire pension and city debt retirement.

We realize that times re extremely difficult and that we are all being called on to tighten our belts. We strongly endorse a "Yes" vote on the 1.5 mill increase at the polls Tuesday and ask all Westland residents to do their part.

Westland has provided many good things for its more than 90,000 residents over the past 15 years of cityhood. Citizens now are being called on to do their part to keep the city financially stable and viable.

We hope every citizen will realize the gravity of the times and cast an affirmative vote Tuesday on the 1.5-mill increase for two years.

Tribute to Vietnam Heroes

VIETNAM

Why did we leave Vietnam
For the Communists to take?
American lives by thousands
Gave all they had at stake.

Half a nation flourished
With our western culture there.
We built their roads and buildings
With technology to spare.

We let them taste of freedom
And our ideologies.
Democracy was teaching them
Of life's necessities.

We built a bond of friendship strong
And let them take their fill.
We built an air and sea force
As a promise of good will.

We kept the Viet-Cong well at bay
And freed a friendly nation,

Then took away our ships and planes
And watched the devastation.

The hordes of tyranny came down
From every northern route.
With deadly tanks and cannon
Put the light of freedom out.

Planes with babies crashing.
Thousands would be lost.
Our soldiers pulled from battle.
Would realize the cost.

Driven to the ocean
Was every refugee.
Sailing in their coffins
Somewhere on the sea.

The world is getting smaller.
We're not that far away.
If we don't fight on other shores,
We'll fight on ours some day.

Group therapy

DEAR CAROL, I am writing this letter to make a suggestion to your readers.

Some time ago I was in therapy. I knew I had many problems and could not deal with them myself.

So I decided to go into therapy and get help.

Seeing a therapist was all fine and dandy, but that was only one hour a week.

And since I was sort of ashamed that I needed outside help and could not face my problems like an "adult," I felt very much alone. I had no one to confide in. The friends I did have I did not want to tell, as I was afraid they would think I was crazy.

Then, through a fluke, I found a group that suited my very special needs. The group is called Dawntreader. It is in the Ann Arbor area.

It provides moral support for people who are receiving psychiatric care.

It is also for those who have received psychiatric care in the past.

Everyone gets together to share experiences and discuss problems with those who have the similar experience of receiving psychiatric care.

It has really been a help to me to get this support. Getting to know the others, to find that needing help did not need to mean that I was not an O.K. person, was very important to me.

The Dawntreader Discussion Group meets from 6 to 7 p.m. every Thursday at the Michigan Union, on State Street in Ann Arbor.

There are also informal get togethers. These occur from 7 to 9 on Saturday nights at the Guild House, 802 Monroe, also in Ann Arbor. Everyone gets together to socialize, listen to music, read, play cards, whatever, but with others around. Other events are also planned at this time.

For more specific information call Rich at 995-8321, Louise at 973-1284 or Bill at 761-2133, just in case you would want to talk to someone before you come.

If this seems a long winded letter, it is because I am so enthusiastic about finding this group. It has helped me improve the quality of my life by providing some sorely needed support.

I have also noticed that you frequently recommend counseling or psychiatric care and feel that suggesting some other support systems would also be a good idea.

Helped

Dear Helped,

I am always glad to receive information about how someone has been helped. I am definitely in favor of support groups, whether it be friends or an organization. Continued good luck.

DEAR CAROL,

Vandalism in my neighborhood has gotten way out of control.

An abbreviated list of things I have had happen in the last six months include: throwing stones at garage doors and windows of house, pulling up hedges, knocking down woodpiles, egging cars and houses, moving bird-bath to middle of street, driving across the front lawn, pulling up flowers, breaking the house and car windows on three separate occasions, stoning the cars, etc.

The kid doing this is a minor. I know he has problems, is unwanted, uncared for, etc. But, he comes up to the house and threatens me, challenges me to fight, swears at my wife and generally causes trouble.

The Wayne County sheriffs don't seem to care or be able to do anything. What can I do, if I fought this kid, he would get hurt and I would be legally at fault even though he is the size of an adult?

Homeowner

Dear Homeowner,

The first place to start is with the boy's parents. Explain the situation to them and ask for their help.

Be very explicit in asking them to help you. If that does not work, contact the Wayne County Sheriff's Department and tell them you can identify the individual and wish to file a formal complaint of vandalism.

The sheriff's department cannot act without your complaint unless they are eyewitnesses. Good luck.

In a cloud on a DC 10

I'm writing this airborne. That is the 'in' way of saying I'm scrunched down, shivering in a seat on a DC 10, winging through the clouds toward California. My fingers are getting cramped from holding on to anything or anyone who comes within their twitch.

Nobody would believe I do this fairly regularly. I don't believe it myself. I wouldn't even be here now if it weren't an emergency calling to me. I'm scared!

When my husband shoved me on and someone shoved me into this seat I saw angels sitting on the clouds out there. Becoming!

"Look around at your fellow passengers," my husband had said. "Pretend you are a writer and observe them. Observe how they react to flight. Be interested in something but yourself." That hurt. Thirty-five years I have been showing him how interested I am in him, forgetting myself in service . . . Oh, my gosh, we're going up . . . up . . . up. IS that an angel becoming?

My view is cut off. A man behind me is waving a Wall Street Journal in front of me. I don't know why. Maybe he is farsighted, or maybe he thinks I'm fainting and he's fanning me.

I close my eyes. "Relax," I murmur. "Relax." A thump . . . the wings are falling off. I KNOW the wings are falling off. I leap up in my seat, but the man with the Wall Street Journal pushes me back down and shoves a portion of the journal into my trembling hands.

"Read it," he smiled. "It helps." My eyes look down at the printed page . . . and I see a four-column picture of a crashed airplane, the wings torn off. My God!

I glance tentatively at my seat mate, a young youngster . . . so important with his John T. Molloy outfit and his briefcase.

I smile at him, my mouth trembling and tears sitting on my eyeballs, ready to be shed.

"You're too young to die," I whisper. He gave me that look I'm familiar

Grassam Chiropractic Life Center

Dr. Grassam Says:

ACTIVE CHILDREN DESERVE CHIROPRACTIC PROTECTION

Children = Constant Change

The outstanding characteristic of young children is their constant change. Busy and eager, they are growing and developing continuously. Active bodies, hearty appetites, clear skins and bright eyes indicate a normal maturing process. They have so much to do, so much to learn about the world in which they live.

The world of the sick child, however, is restricted by his illness. Healthy activity wanes; eyes become dull; appetites decline.

How disease can start

Because a child is especially active, his body absorbs much stress each day. He may fall or be pushed or jolted. These forceful activities can produce spinal misalignments, which are called subluxations.

Disease and the spinal column

The spinal column is an important, and often overlooked, part of a child's growth and development. The spine is extremely vulnerable to abnormal development until the end of the rapid growth period (15 to 19 years), and is not completely developed until the young adult is approximately 25 years old.

The importance of correcting abnormalities early in childhood cannot be overemphasized. Too little attention is paid to traumatic incidences which could fixate and/or decrease normal movement of segments in the spine.

How your Chiropractor can help

Your doctor of chiropractic is trained to detect interference to the nervous system caused by misalignment or subluxation of the spine. He can determine whether your child has a subluxation and can correct it with spinal adjustments.

Chronic disease in adults often originates as a minor complaint in childhood. Many of these conditions can be prevented by your chiropractor.

Children make good chiropractic patients

Doctors of chiropractic find children especially good patients. They respond quickly to spinal adjustments and are delighted to learn adjustments are not uncomfortable. Parents are happy, too, when they see their child rapidly responding to treatment.

Proper diet, sufficient sleep, good posture and constructive exercise are important factors in proper growth and development. Our children's future depends on good health; protect it, accompany your children to your chiropractor regularly.

Children May have a Spinal Defect Without Knowing it!

A spinal injury or defect which may occur may not have dramatic effects. It may occur subtly and grow worse with time. Children do not usually recognize subtle health problems, rather they learn to adapt and suffer in silence. As a result, many spinal defects are unknown both to parent and child. And to make the spinal defect even more mysterious, when the problem grows more serious and pain is felt, it often occurs in a part of the body not ordinarily associated with the spine.

Canton woman directs in courtroom

How does play end? Ask the audience

By DENNIS NIEMIEC
Playtime Coordinator

Don't ask the director or cast members of "Night of January Sixteenth" how the play ends. They haven't the slightest idea.

The ending of this Plymouth Theater Guild presentation varies from performance to performance depending on the crowd's mood. That's because "Night of January Sixteenth," a murder trial written by Ayn Rand, leaves the final verdict in the hands of jurors selected from the audience.

Karen Andre, accused of killing a financial manipulator who had been her employer and lover, is either acquitted or found guilty of first degree murder at each show. The jury writes the conclusion.

A different approach to drama? "It's not your conventional theatrical production," admitted director Clemie Cyburt, a 16-year veteran of the Plymouth Theater Guild. "Having the show held at the Plymouth City Hall courtroom adds a sense of realism that you wouldn't get in an auditorium. The novelty of staging a trial in a courtroom has attracted attention, which is what we expected."

"More importantly, we're getting some good feedback about the quality of the show," she added. "The novel idea brings them in and with a good performance we can leave the audience with a good feeling about the Plymouth Guild."

Enter Mrs. Cyburt. Much of the responsibility for the success of this courtroom drama must rest with the director. Once the novelty of the setting wears off, the personalities of nearly 20 characters take over. Attorneys, witnesses, a bailiff, court reporter, defendant and police officers — the director demands realism. So does the audience. "Direction is not my forte," claimed

Mrs. Cyburt, a producer and actress for most of her community theater career. "Maybe I don't have enough self confidence. I'm more of a character director and that's just what this play calls for. I like helping someone develop a character on stage."

One of three persons awarded lifetime membership in the 33-year-old Plymouth Guild, Mrs. Cyburt is more than a little excited with the audience response to "Night of January Sixteenth." Friday and Saturday nights' performances have already sold out, prompting the scheduling of a final showing at 7 p.m. Sunday (call 420-2161 or 261-2875 for reservations).

"Some of the performers have never been on stage before," she noted, "yet you could never tell. I've never seen it performed by any other group so I had no pre-conceived notions as to how things should be done. But I've been on the phone for two days now and the response has been very good."

However, following Sunday's final performance, the Canton director has the immediate future already booked. In addition to an upcoming part in a Schoolcraft College production of "Agatha Christie Made Me Do It" ("I play a bitch... but an attractive one," she remarked), she will produce a children's show for the Plymouth Guild later this year. Mrs. Cyburt also serves as the Guild's recording secretary and formerly held the positions of president and vice-president.

"I love the theater," she declared in an obvious understatement. "Having a creative urge and being somewhat of a ham, I really enjoy my involvement."

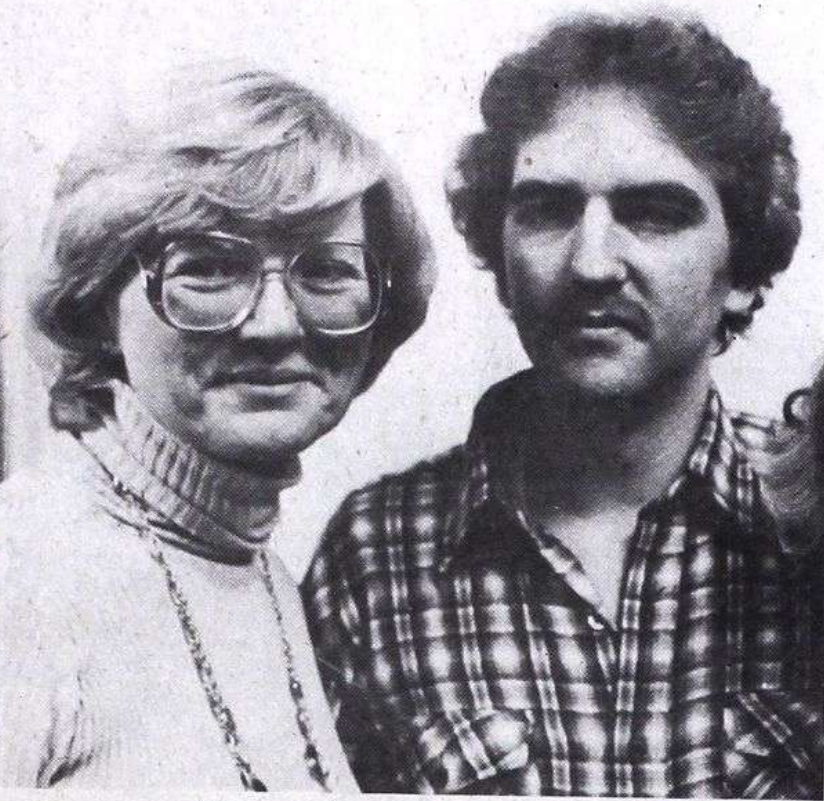

A library aide at Pioneer Middle School in Plymouth Township when not on stage or at rehearsals, Mrs. Cyburt has introduced the theater to other family members in Canton. Both daughter, Fran, and son, Paul, have performed although her husband, Lou, has not been bitten by the theatrical bug.

"He tolerates our involvement," she laughed.

Right now, "Night of January Sixteenth" represents that involvement. With or without any set ending.

"Our first two juries decided on a not guilty verdict," the director revealed. "I believe she had something to do with the murder but I really don't know if I could vote for a first degree verdict. The play was written in 1933 when morals were more Victorian."

"Today, most people seem to think there's a reasonable doubt in the case." But that's for the audience to judge.

Canton residents Clemie Cyburt (left) and Dave Ide will play integral roles in the Plymouth Theatre Guild's production of "Night of January Sixteenth" this weekend in the Plymouth City Hall courtroom. Mrs. Cyburt will direct the drama while Ide serves as assistant director and stage manager.

Outdoorama Show will highlight state's hunting, fishing and camping

The 1981 Outdoorama Show, at the Michigan State Fairgrounds, Friday to March 1, will be the biggest in the show's 40-year history, according to Thomas Washington, executive director of Michigan United Conservation Clubs (MUCC), the show's sponsor. Fans of Michigan's great outdoors will find every facet of hunting, fishing and camping represented at the show.

"Despite the state's miserable economic condition, more exhibitors of hunting, fishing and other outdoor specialties have signed up than ever before. More than a month before the show was set to begin, we had only a few exhibition booths available," said Washington.

According to Washington, the state's economy may contribute to the show's overall success. "I think that people are finally becoming aware that the great outdoors is the best and the cheapest entertainment buy in Michigan today. Our exhibitors are telling us that sportsmen are bringing their families to outdoor shows around the country to learn how to buy their equipment at the cheapest price and how to properly maintain and use it."

"I also believe that people may have more time to hunt and fish and generally enjoy the outdoors. Certainly statistics from the Department of Natural Resources confirm that more and more people are purchasing hunting and fishing licenses each year," said Washington.

Although he is optimistic about this year's Outdoorama, Washington stressed that attendance at last year's show was less than satisfactory. Washington said that the decision to move Outdoorama to the State Fairgrounds may have caught some sportsmen off guard.

"An amazing number of people are simply not aware that the decision to move to the State Fairgrounds was based upon the fact that the coliseum has been almost completely renovated — better light, better heat, much more exhibition space, new restrooms, great parking facilities."

The 1981 Outdoorama is a greatly expanded version of past shows. Besides more exhibitors, the 1981 Outdoorama will offer a variety of special programs for the sportsman and his family including:

- Continuous showings of award-winning outdoor films from across the nation, including the 1980 "Teddy" award winners of the Michigan Outdoor Writers Association;

- A variety of special clinics and stage presentations including such diverse subjects as fishing in the Detroit area, waterfowl retriever demonstrations in the show's special tank, DNR water safety demonstrations (also in the tank), and gun safety demonstrations and clinics;

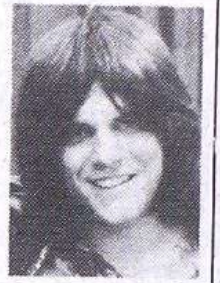

- A nightly big-buck contest in which citizens from across the state will be invited to bring racks in for judging and contend for exciting outdoor prizes including a bear hunting expedition in Idaho and hunting rifles.

Old standbys like "Victor the Rasslin Bear," lumberjack exhibitions and high-wire acts will also be included in the 1981 Outdoorama.

The show's sponsor, Michigan United Conservation Clubs, is a non-profit association of state sportsmen's clubs.

These Rats deserve superstar status here

THE BOOMTOWN RATS
"Mondo Bongo"
(Columbia)

For some reason or another, superstar status has thus far evaded the Boomtown Rats...in America, that is. Elsewhere, they are one of the biggest acts in rock and roll, and deservedly so; Bob Geldof and the Rats have repeatedly put out great records that have hit the top of record charts from England to Shanghai, and their live show has few (if any) equals.

But, American radio being what it is, the Boomtown Rats haven't been heard by most of their prospective audience, save for two singles that did get a little airplay — "Rat Trap" (as Geldof said, the D.J.'s played it "because they thought it sounded like Springsteen or something...") and the controversial "I Don't Like Mondays." I believe a breakthrough is at hand.

"Mondo Bongo" is simply one of the best LP's released in the last few years. It's also a complete change of pace from their last album, "The Fine Art of Surfacing."

Strangely enough, while it's the Rats' most diverse work, it's also their most cohesive. The heavily rhythmic "Mood Mambos" sounds great next to the powerful rocker "Straight Up." Which sounds just fine next to "This Is My Room," an intense, almost psychotic number that nearly breaks the speakers down on the simple, but direct chorus:

"This is my room
yes
This is my room."

Co-Producer Tony Visconti turns up the dials, and the result is a near masterpiece for the Rats, though not their first, and definitely not their last.

Side two opens with "Please Don't Go," which despite fantastic drumming from Simon Crowe, is the only cut on "Mondo Bongo" even remotely resembling a throw-away. But redemption isn't far away, as the next cut (and current hit single in the U.K.), "Elephants Graveyard," is simply the best straight ahead rock song I've heard in quite some time, and it shows the Boomtown Rats at their best, which is very good indeed.

"White turns black, dies of heart attack
The elephants graveyard needs a change of scene.
You got the money, but who needs the tension
And fear's no cheaper on the old age pension"

As is often his way, Geldof has chosen his subject material right off the front page, with the Miami riots his diatribe this time around. "Justice isn't blind, it just looks the other way," he sings, as the guitars of Gerry Cott and Garry Roberts lay down the marshal law. The always pajama-clad Johnny Fingers gets his fingers in the icing too, and his ever-playful keyboards are an integral part of the Rats' sound, as usual.

"Don't Talk To Me" is Geldof at his best, biting wit and all: "When you say those things it seems so crude/Do you think you're clever ah you're so rude/You're mouth's wide open and it don't become you." Next up is "Hurt Hurts," and Bob's lyrics slip into a bit of surrealism, but hits real enough with lines like "Hard hide/Tough inside/She cut you with stilettos/Boy, it hurts." Musically, these two numbers are flawless; rock, as hard as it comes — which is to say diamonds.

"Mondo Bongo" closes with what should be the obvious first single off the album, "Up All Night." It's irresistible bass line is guaranteed to suck you in, and the wonderful back-up vocals of "Ooh za za" and the rocking "Say it ain't so Joe" chorus pulls you in deeper. Really, this is one of those songs that if you hear it once, you'll be humming it for weeks.

I realize I'm gushing on like a kid who just got his first bicycle, but it's really frustrating knowing how good the Rats are, but that so few people have heard them. It's a good thing that the Boomtown Rats only release one album every year or so; more than that could really hurt my credibility...

Singing star to appear in concert

International singing star Nana Mouskouri will present a concert of her works in a single performance on Sunday at 7 p.m., at Detroit's Music Hall Center. Miss Mouskouri is the recipient of over 60 gold records earned on all six continents. Greek by birth, she also sings in English, Italian, French and German.

Tickets to see this folk heroine are priced at $14, $12 and $10 and may be purchased at the box office, by calling 963-7680 and using a MasterCard or VISA, or by picking them up at any CTC outlet. Group rates are available through Peg Sullivan, 963-7622.

This star boasts brains and beauty

By STEVE WALZ
Special to Playtime

Britain's Lesley-Anne Down is one of the few internationally revered actresses who can boast a lethal combination of brains and beauty. So when famed director Franklin "Patton" Schaffner set out to lense "Sphinx," the forthcoming thriller from Orion Pictures, he helped secure the erudite actress' services.

"In the film I play Erica Baron, a Harvard educated Egyptologist who gets caught up in intrigue involving a curse on a Cairo family. It was an extraordinary experience for me since I was at the top of my class in Egyptology when I was a little girl," the charming actress recalled. Relaxing in her hotel suite, her exquisite looks conjured up notions of a young Elizabeth Taylor.

Many film moguls on both sides of the Atlantic have felt that Lesley-

Lesley-Anne Down stars in 'Sphinx'

Anne could become one of the world's biggest box-office attractions if she worked with more consistency. To date, Down has made films with such superstars as Burt Reynolds ("Rough Cut"), Laurence Olivier ("The Betsy"), Sean Connery ("Great Train Robbery") and Frank Langella ("Sphinx").

Why hasn't she taken the initiative? "I don't enjoy making films when I have to get up at 5 o'clock in the morning. I like looking back on them retrospectively," expounded the alluring actress. "You have to be fit to do a movie, and I wasn't for 'Sphinx.' It was so hot in Egypt. But all the bad things waft away with a cool breeze. Physically though, I couldn't make more than one film a year. Besides, I am extremely lucky to do just one."

Although the 26-year-old star maintains that she can not complain about her career in any way, Lesley-Anne chose to scold her U.K. critics.

"The British critics loathe me. When I was younger they loved me, even though I was appalling. They are a very strange lot. The moment you make your first step forward to American success, they say to themselves, 'Who does she think she is?' They think I live in America, and I don't," said a perturbed Lesley-Anne.

As for the reception she has received in the United States, Down added, "If they think that I am a sex-symbol, then I am doing something wrong. I consider myself an adequate actress who likes to play real people because it demands more research."

Like her fellow compatriot, Jane Seymour, Lesley-Anne was quite outspoken on the difference between American and British made films.

"There is more 1930's-like emphasis on entertainment in Hollywood. 'Fame' is an example with the overall singing and dancing. In England, the emphasis is on theater, which is pretty obsolete. This has caused some harm to the industry there," she claimed.

No one can say the lovely lady doesn't have spunk, which makes an encounter with Lesley-Anne Down all the more enjoyable. Now if she could only rechannel her energy to make more motion pictures, everybody would profit immensely.

Medieval feast is Garden Club highlight

The January meeting of the Huron Valley Garden Club was held in the parlor of the First United Methodist Church of Belleville with 10 members and one guest present.

President Jan Mac Dermid presided at the business session and the Club Collect was read in unison. Following the regular reports, Charlotte Budd, conservation chairman, led a discussion on the feeding of birds and gave some timely reminders of do's and don'ts.

For the next meeting, members are to bring cookies and containers which will be packed and decorated and then taken to a nursing home in the area.

Onalee Wall was the recipient of the flower of the month.

Speaker for the day was a HVCB club member, Marian Kuchta, who recently was named Woman of the Year for the Michigan Herb Society. She shared with the group the medieval Yuletide feast she and her husband had enjoyed at Matthai Botanical Gardens in December. All the food was prepared and eaten in the manner of that era — most everything flavored with spices and herbs. One fascinating item used was a plate called a trencher made of herb bread which had been baked very dry and hollowed out to hold the meal. Those serving the dinner were dressed in medieval costumes.

Steven Kuchta, Marian's husband, gave the blessing by reciting a Russian prayer, after which she narrated portions of the meal.

Carol Lindemann honored at shower

A miscellaneous shower honoring April bride-elect Carol Lindemann was held Sunday, Feb. 8, at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Doris Lindemann of Potter Drive, Belleville.

Hostesses for the afternoon were two aunts, Beverly McKinney and Sharon Milatz, and a friend, Michele De Planche.

Some 60 guests arrived from Carleton, Monroe, Dexter, Pinckney, Manchester and nearby cities with the bride's maternal grandmother, Freda Hoffman, making the trip from Atlanta, Mich.

Decorations for the party were in yellow and white, in keeping with the springtime bridal theme. Wicker baskets of daisies were used as centerpieces at the tables and the honoree also was presented a corsage of daisies from her God-mother, Beverly Mc Kinney of Carleton.

Arriving in time to help Carol with the gifts, ribbons and wrappings was her fiancé, Rodney Varney of Ypsilanti.

The young couple have set an April 11 altar date at Emmanuel Lutheran Church in Ypsilanti.

Local Jaycees, Jaycettes recruiting new members

The Belleville-Van Buren Jaycees and Jaycettes will hold a membership open house from 3 to 7 p.m. Mar. 1 at the Van Buren Township Hall.

Jaycees and Jaycettes are young men and women between the ages of 18 and 35 who are concerned with helping their community.

Interested parties will enjoy a free salad bar while meeting members of the local chapters. If you've ever wanted to be involved with an Easter egg hunt, a noodles night, the Strawberry Festival, a casino, a haunted house or would enjoy a dunk in the dunk tank, this is the organization for you. And the time to join is now!

Bring a friend and your ideas and meet the area's Jaycees and Jaycettes.

For further information, call Pat Suter at 697-1361 or Pete La Framboise at 697-2607.

RHS class of '61 to hold reunion

More than 130 requests for tickets have already been received for the 20th reunion of the Romulus High School class of 1961. The get-together will be held May 16 at the new Karas House of Redford, 23632 Plymouth Road, one block east of Telegraph.

Tickets are $21 per person and will include a buffet dinner featuring chicken, ham, stuffed cabbage and spaghetti plus many other dishes and homemade cheese cake.

The price also includes a full open bar, door prizes and a remembrance book. A photographer has been scheduled for the evening and will be on hand for couples' or group pictures.

If, as yet, you have not been contacted to attend, please call Sandi Kenyon Clark at 464-0713; Karen Maciejewski Mc Fall at 941-2497 or Jean Mc Ilwain Krause at 753-9329.

High Flyers 4-H takes to ski slopes

Members of the High Flyers 4-H Club enjoyed a group outing at Willow Park Feb. 8 with skiing on the agenda. Many who had planned to participate changed their minds as the weather turned progressively colder but those who braved the elements and enjoyed the afternoon were Enrica, Mindy and Bill Hensley, Brian Mc Clinton, Agnes and Carrie Cook and Sophie and Pamela Zoller.

After their hearty endurance and determination on the ski trail, they welcomed the warmth of the lodge and related their experiences over coffee, hot chocolate, cookies and other refreshments. And, too, they discussed still another outing in the near future.

Belleville librarian looking forward to a retiree's 'spare-time'

The end of February, which is just over the horizon, is the time selected by Helen E. McClatchey for her retirement from the world of books — but only on an employee basis — as she leaves her librarian post at the Belleville Public Library.

For, come the 28th of the month, she will have that much-earned "spare time" which not only will afford her the opportunity for pleasure reading but for hobbies she hopes to pursue.

Along with painting lessons, calligraphy and Fraktur (aluminated printing) lessons and numerous needlework projects, she has the enjoyment of her Ann Arbor home on the Huron River to look forward to. And, she says, particularly in the spring and fall when she can take advantage of putting in the garden.

There will also be visits with 10 grandchildren who live in four different locations and 1400 miles apart. But first off, there is scheduled a relaxing 10 days in March at Barbados in the West Indies with her husband, a perfect way to unwind after some 24 years with the Wayne County Library System.

Mrs. Mc Clatchey came to Belleville in 1971 from the Northville-Plymouth Library replacing a retiring Helena Mc Cullough. Prior to that she had worked at the Trenton Public Library while residing in Grosse Ile.

A graduate of Marygrove College, she later married and spent 15 years raising her six children before taking on full-time employment. Her family includes two doctor sons, two daughters in nursing, one in interior design and another in retailing. Four are University of Michigan graduates and two hold degrees from Michigan State.

In closing, she wished to leave a short message for the many patrons at Belleville's Fred C. Fischer Library: "Your librarian is looking forward to retirement at the end of February and wants to say good-bye to those of you who are away enjoying warm sunshine or those who just haven't been in recently. It has been a pleasure to serve you and you will be missed. Your understanding and cooperation have been appreciated. Gratefully, Mrs. Helen E. Mc Clatchey."

Trump, Harris to marry

Mr. and Mrs. John Trump of Ronald Street, Romulus, announce the engagement of their daughter, Marjorie Faith, to Dennis E. Harris, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Harris of Michele Drive, Romulus.

The young couple plan to be married during the Christmas season, 1981.

August altar date planned

The engagement and summer wedding plans of Cathy Cilia and David Thomas are announced by Paul and Marie Cilia of 47940 Hull Rd., Belleville, parents of the bride-elect. A 1979 graduate of Belleville High School, Miss Cilia is currently employed at Lemontree Apartments of Belleville. Her fiancé, who lives at 49021 Denton Rd., Belleville, is the son of William and Charlotte Thomas of 305 Evergreen Rd., New Cumberland, Pa. A 1977 alumnus of Indiana University of Pennsylvania where he is affiliated with Lambda Chi Alpha social fraternity, he is now working for AMP Incorporated out of Dearborn. The young couple have an August 29 altar date at St. Anthony's Catholic Church in Belleville.

ROMULUS PUBLIC LIBRARY 11121 Wayne Road FICTION

"Witness" by Marcy Moran Heidish. The first white woman to make her mark on this country, Anne Hutchinson in her own time was called a saint by some, an instrument of Satan by others. This champion of religious liberty, leader in politics and medicine, mother of 14 and midwife to many more comes alive in this novel.

"Different Families" by Alison Scott Skelton. First, last and always, this is a bittersweet love story about two people who desperately adore each other but who become desperate when they spend an extended amount of time together.

"Aries Rising" by Arthur Herzog. Bristling with mystery, action and adventure, this is the author's best novel yet.

"Mc Eck'n" by John F. Hopkins. A feisty septuagenarian spinster living with the Little Sisters of the Poor has some triumphs to remember and some scores to settle.

ANIMALS, WILDLIFE

"Queen of Sheba" by Joy Adamson. This records the author's life with Penny, a female leopard whom she installed in her home near Nairobi, Kenya with the intent to release her into the wild when the animal had reached maturity.

"Command-Train Your Dog" by James Gordon Bennett. Now you can train your dog to be a champion or just to behave like one. You'll learn all the commands and exercises used in the obedience ring and how they can improve your dog's behavior at home.

TRAVEL, GEOGRAPHY

"Dream Cruise" by Brainerd Chapman. There's good sailing here, old friends met and new friends made, and detailed information about stops along the way. You will share the Chapman's camaraderie, good shipmates and delightful explorations of the places they visit.

"Colorado and the Rockies" is full of the beautiful photographs which will serve as a splendid introduction to, or reminder of, this lovely and unspoiled state.

Past Matrons gather for lunch

By Mrs. Joseph Spring
699-4021

The Past Matrons' Association of Belleville Chapter No. 73, O.E.S., met at the First United Methodist Church for its February Meeting with Past Matron Effie Kerbyson hostess.

Nineteen members were present for the Valentine luncheon at tables bright with special napkins and chocolate hearts for favors. The same theme was carried out in the dessert with cherry ice cream and heart shaped cookies.

Pauline Quinley, the president, conducted the business meeting with the Chaplain, Eva Luper having the devotions. The junior past matron, Connie Gubaci, was duly installed into the Order.

Following the meeting, the hostess presented a Valentine game with Eva Luper and Pauline Quinley being the lucky winners.

The March meeting will be with Past Matron Frances McAtee on March 5.

On Thursday of last week, Mr. and Mrs. William Graham were visitors at the home of friends of long standing, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Menzies of Windsor, Ont.

Mrs. Douglas Wright of Dundee was a weekend guest of her father, Leon Boldt. While here they called on an aunt, Mrs. Sylvia Johnson, who is residing at Van Buren Convalescent home.

Funeral services for a former Belleville resident, Mr. Lewis Lester of Lake City where held at 10 a.m. February 14 at Youngs Funeral Home in Lake City. Mr. Lester passed away suddenly at his home Feb. 11, at 74 years of age. Burial took place at the cemetery in Peck, their one-time home.

He was a life member of Myrtle Lodge No. 89, F. & A.M. of Belleville having transferred from Elk Lodge No. 353 at Peck where he had been Worshipful Master. Masonic services were held Friday evening by Lake City Lodge No. 408.

He is survived by his wife, Donna. Mr. and Mrs. Craig Stabnau of New Boston entertained members of their family Sunday afternoon in honor of the fifth birthday of their son, Jared. Attending from Belleville were two grandmothers, Mrs. Harvey Stabnau and Mrs. Jean Schell; also great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Graham. Jared has an older brother Erik who will be eight next month.

Word has been received here by friends that Miss Mabel Soop, a one-time resident of West Columbia Avenue, now of Ann Arbor, had sustained a broken leg in a fall in her apartment. After having been in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital for three weeks, she is now at home. Her address is 2222

Fuller Rd., Apt. 1013-A, Ann Arbor 48105.

A former Harris road resident, Mrs. Doreen Burn, has been a patient at Addison Hospital for sometime but expects to be released soon. Cards may be sent to her home address, 125 Birch, Cement City, Michigan 49233.

Card party-hope chest time

It's that time of year again! Time to sit down with your friends for a friendly game of bridge, pinochle, euchre or canasta or to bring along a favorite table game to play at the Belleville Junior Study Club's annual card party. This year's activities are being held from 7 to 10 p.m. Feb. 18 at Trinity Episcopal Church. One of the highlights of the party is the Hope Chest drawing and club president Cathy Horste (left) and card party chairman Sandra Lauth are shown with items which comprise the "chest".

Junior Study Club invites community to annual card party

A set of large Raggedy Ann and Andy dolls, afghans, blankets, rugs, pillows, table cloths and many other hand-crafted items will be awarded to several lucky ticket holders Feb. 18 (tonight) when the Belleville Junior Study Club holds its Hope Chest drawing at its annual benefit card party.

The club's main fundraiser of the year, the party profits will be used for the Genevieve Clark Memorial Scholarship, an award given annually to a single female parent who is furthering her education.

Open to the public, the party will be held from 7 to 10 p.m. at Trinity Episcopal Church where coffee and tea will be served throughout the evening with homemade pie as an additional bonus.

Those attending — and remember, men, women and families are all invited — are welcome to enjoy cards or a favorite table game which they are asked to bring with them.

Door prizes will also be awarded in the course of the evening with some 30 hand-crafted ceramic bells included.

Donation is $1.25 per person. Tickets, now on sale by all club members, will also be available at the door.

New on the scene

It's a boy! That's the good news being announced these blustery mid-winter days from 50 Clarence Street, Belleville — the home of Tim and Laura Prueter.

Their first child, Justin David put in his appearance at 8:14 p.m. Feb. 1 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor. The new heir weighed in at 6 lbs. - 3 ozs. and measured 19-3/4 inches.

His proud grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. George Felcyn of St. Clair Shores and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Mathews of Po-way, Calif. Great-grandparent honors go to Mr. and Mrs. Max Felcyn of Detroit and Mr. and Mrs. Archie Morlik of Saginaw.

The new mother is the former Laura Felcyn.

Houseplant clinic set

Are your houseplants suffering from the winter blues? Is your philodendron floundering? If winter has taken its toll on your houseplants, attend one of the free houseplant clinics offered by English Gardens. "Solving Houseplant Blues" is the topic of the clinics presented by Horticulturist Lillian Chont-Winchell.

The first clinic will be offered Feb. 21 at 1 p.m.

in the Dearborn Heights store, located at 22650 Ford Road. The second clinic will be at the English Gardens in West Bloomfield, 6370 Orchard Lake Road., on Feb. 28 at 1 p.m. Customers are encouraged to bring samples of plant problems to the clinics for identification and recommendations.

Belleville captures district wrestling crown

Salem, John Glenn grapplers are runners-up

Coming off a perfect dual meet season and recently crowned Suburban 8 Conference champ, Belleville easily won the first leg of the coveted "triple crown" of high school wrestling by claiming the Class A district championship held at Ann Arbor Huron High Saturday.

Coach Gerry Malecek's Tigers took three gold medals and place nine of 13 wrestlers into the regionals which will also be held at AA Huron this Saturday.

In fact, the Suburban 8 dominated the district at Huron. Belleville's archrival, Plymouth Salem, was runner-up and qualified five of its wrestlers for regional competition.

"It just goes to show just how tough the Suburban 8 Conference is when it comes to wrestling," Malecek commented. "Of the 13 classes our conference produced seven winners."

Can Belleville take the regionals? "At this point I really don't know," replied Malecek. "I really don't know who qualified what for the tournament, but let me say this. I think we have as good a shot at it as anyone else."

Belleville's 198-pound senior Steve Cook continued to look like a state gold medal contender as he got past a tough Ann Arbor Huron grappler, Duane Greer, on a criteria decision. Deadlocked 2-2, Cook was awarded the victory by the officials.

Plymouth Salem's Scott Wickens edged Pioneer's Jerry Kirby, 4-3, to finish third, the final qualifying berth for the regionals.

Belleville was also represented in the winner's circle by Norm Bates (138) and Brock Nigg. Salem received winning performances from their heavyweight Marty Piper, Jeff Vojcek (98), Bill Ward (119), and Steve Szilagyi (167).

Belleville also qualified Walt Young (112), Dave Cook (119), Kerry O'Keefe (132) and Lonnie Renfro (145) who were second in their respective weight classes, Lynn Kinsey (155) and Mel Richendollar (185) who were third will also make the return trip to Ann Arbor Huron.

Salem's Rob McDonald (132) and Rob Price (155) and Belleville's Terry Calhoun (167) wound up their seasons when they finished fourth in their classes.

Plymouth Canton's Todd Bartlett (98) and Bob Mullen (155), who were runners-up, and Brett Haraala (126), who

2nd best isn't good enough

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

There is a controversial rule adopted by the Michigan High School Association, probably offered to that august body by its wrestling committee, that is causing some concern in the area.

Although this is the first year the practice of "defending second place" at the regionals will be put into effect, some coaches feel it's wrong. What the practice is, is that a wrestler who loses in the regional finals (finishes second) must defeat the winner of the consolation bracket (third place) in order to qualify for state. He must, in other words, prove he's second best.

Only the top two wrestlers in each of the 13 weight classes from five of the regionals will advance to the state championships which will be held a week from Friday at Crisler Arena in Ann Arbor.

"Here you have a kid who wrestles his way to the regional championships," said Jerry Malecek, Belleville High head wrestling coach whose team happens to be ranked as the second best in the state. "and he loses. There is a lot of psychological wear-and-tear here. Then, he is forced to come back and wrestle for second place and if he loses, then he's lost the trip to Ann Arbor, a shot at the state honors."

"It's just something that I can't buy at this moment," Malecek added. "Maybe once we see how it works, then maybe it'll be different. However, I have some concerns about all of this."

Of course there is the other side of the coin. The wrestler who finishes third by winning the consolation round will get a shot at second and the trip to the state finals.

Rogers to wear U-M grid jersey

If there were any secrets about where Wayne Memorial's blue chip runningback, Rick Rogers, will enroll this fall they were lifted Friday night during the Fordson-Wayne cage game. On hand from the University of Michigan to present Rogers with his All-State plaque was none other than William McCartney, the Wolverines' defensive coordinator.

McCartney, the former Divine Child coach, is the man who convinced Bo Schembechler to attend last year's prep football opener at Wayne High. If you recall, Rogers responded by running for a 44-yard touchdown the first time he got the ball. He wound up leading Wayne to an impressive victory over Belleville.

"It was narrowed down to Michigan and Michigan State," said Rogers' coach, Floyd Carter, "and Rick felt that both U of M and State both had excellent programs. Believe me, it was a difficult choice."

Carter pointed out that Rogers has the potential to play for the Wolverines and may even see some spot duty as a freshman.

The formal signing of the letter of intent will take place Wednesday at Rogers' home.

And Bo is expected to be in town for that one.

School is scheduled for soccer officials

For the soccer buffs in Van Buren, the Van Buren Parks and Recreation Department wants me to inform you that their Feb. 11 scheduled referee classes which was wiped out by the rain and snow storm has been rescheduled for Wed., Feb. 18.

There will be seven sessions every Monday and Wednesday and if you need further information about the classes please contact the recreation offices at 699-2001.

Zebras out of title race

Wayne cagers foul up chance to catch Fordson

Any Wayne Memorial hopes of catching league-leading Lincoln Park were quickly demolished Friday night by a Fordson quintet which stopped Coach Steve Schwartz' Zebras 69-57.

The loss left Wayne (5-4) in a two-way tie for third with Taylor Truman, but three full games behind the Parkers who are 9-1 on the Great Lakes 8 Conference year. Fordson has the handle on second, sporting a 7-2 mark.

Schwartz pinpointed his team's problems to its ineptness to convert key foul shots. In the last half they looked pathetic at the line. For the game, the Zebras converted only 13 of 27 chances.

"You can't stay with the good team unless you convert the foul shot," Schwartz pointed out. "We were within five points with four minutes to go. We then made some crucial turnovers and missed at least four free throws."

Fordson scored the final six points of the game, widening the gap and making it look easier than it really was. Although Coach John McIntyre's Tractors enjoyed a 22-13 first period lead, Wayne cut the edge behind Alfred Russell's eight and Gary Mazurek's six second period points.

Wayne trailed only by three, 34-31, at the halfway mark. The Tractors came back on the strength of John Dimitriou's excellent shooting to outscore their hosts 15-11 and 20-15 in the final two quarters.

Dimitriou, who tallied nine of his game-high 20 points in the opening period, led all scorers. Teammates John Lombardi and Al Bob Brusco chipped in with 15 and 12 points respectively.

Wayne received 19 points from Russell, but 17 of those were in the first half. Rick Rogers was the only other Zebra in double figures. He tossed in 15.

"You know the first time we met this team they had us 47-6 in the first half," Schwartz said, "but Friday night they knew they were in a game. It was a physical battle all the way and the final score really doesn't reflect the intensity or closeness of the game."

The Wayne-Westland John Glenn game last Tuesday was postponed because of the weather. The two teams will meet in a rescheduled match on Feb. 24 at Westland John Glenn.

'Snowed-out'

Belleville cagers received an unexpected week off due to the inclement weather and school closings last week.

Scheduled to play Livonia Stevenson last Tuesday, the game was cancelled because of the snowstorm. On Friday, Coach Tom Niemi's Tigers were to meet Suburban 8 Conference opponent, Dearborn, but that game also was wiped out because of icy conditions and school closings.

The Dearborn tilt has been rescheduled for Feb. 24, but the Stevenson game has not been rescheduled as of this week.

won his consolation round, survived district competition and will have an opportunity to compete for regional titles.

In the meantime, defending Class A state champ, Temperance Bedford, retained its district crown by a 85½ point margin over Westland John Glenn, which finished second in a field of 13 Class A teams at Bedford.

Bedford garnered 220 team points to

Playoff champs

Spartans need one more win for title

Although some may argue that Cherry Hill's magic number to win the Tri-River Conference basketball crown is "2", Coach Dave Bogataj is satisfied to say, "It's only one."

With a perfect 10-0 conference mark, all the Spartans need to do is beat Melvindale to clinch at least a share of the title. (They were scheduled to play the Cardinals Tuesday night).

"Because the next closest team to us has three losses," Bogataj explained, "if we win Friday night (against Riverside), then we'll have it all."

Both games are considered 'tough'. However, of late the Spartans have looked formidable to their league opponents. Take, for example, Friday night's encounter — and that's about all you can call it — with Southgate Schafer.

Racing to a 26-10 first period lead, Cherry Hill buried their downriver opponent, 96-45. For all purposes the mismatch was over at halftime when the Spartans left the floor with a 42-27 advantage.

"I managed to play everyone in the first half," Bogataj said. "We were sluggish, would you believe, because we had not played Tuesday." The game with Southgate had been cancelled (and rescheduled for Feb. 24) because of the snowstorm.

Chico William Ellis tossed in 23 points and senior guard Greg Thompson counted 21 while Tom Pietruszka added 10 for the Spartans in their romp over Schafer.

Glenn's 134½. Dearborn Heights Annapolis was third (120) and Wayne Memorial was close on the Cougar's heels with 118½. Romulus finished seventh (45½) with Livonia Franklin and Churchill 11th and 13th, respectively.

Although Glenn failed to produce a weight class champ, the Westlanders qualified eight of their grapplers for the regional competitions. Coach Bob Lusk's team will be represented by district runners-up: Phil Brown (heavyweight), Tom Gibson (98), Rob Paciocco (138), Don Forchione (155) and third place finishers Greg O'Neil (145) and Steve Alewine (198).

Glenn's Don Reynolds (105), Mike Parsons (112) and Ted Badami (167) reached the consolation rounds and lost, but did not qualify.

Wayne, which had problems filling all of the weights earlier in the season, apparently has solved that problem and came out of their districts with a district champ in Jim Daniel (138) and five other qualifiers in Dan Matauch (112), Joe Samples (145) and Daryl Brooks (185) who came within one victory of claiming gold medals.

Coach Don Haney's Zebras also finished third with Paul Justice (105) and Joe Collaiane (132).

Romulus will be represented at the regional with district runner-up Randy Champagne (167) and third place finisher Aaron Johnson. The Eagles' Eric Water was fourth at 126.

Chris Polehna, Livonia Franklin's heavyweight, was the lone Patriot qualifier.

Regional competition is scheduled for Saturday at five sites across the state. Only the top three finishers advanced to the regionals, from which only the top two will continue to the state championships which will be held a week from Saturday at the Crisler Arena on the University of Michigan campus in Ann Arbor.

'Red hot' Franklin cagers roll past Glenn

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Sports Writer

John Glenn ran into a red-hot shooting Livonia Franklin squad Thursday night and fell 75-60 in a Northwest Suburban League encounter.

Coach Dan Henry thought his Rockets would be ready for Jim McIntyre's Patriots, especially since Glenn won the first meeting, 57-55.

However, Franklin took advantage of a boisterous home crowd to race to a 22-12 first quarter lead and increase it to 40-28 by intermission.

Glenn made a counterattack to close the gap to 40-34 as Rob Sisson and Dave Ward, who each had 15 points, scored the first three baskets of the third period. But Sisson, who also grabbed seven rebounds and dished out six assists, turned his ankle severely in the closing minutes of the quarter and Franklin regained its momentum.

The Pats took the last quarter, 21-17 as Jeff Wojcik scored seven of his game-high 18 points in the period. Teammates Ron Lohman and sophomore Bob Stebbins each cashed in 16 and 6-2 forward

Dave Folsom drilled in 15 markers.

You might say he gave Glenn the "Folsom Prism" blues with his brilliant play around the perimeter of the key.

"Rob Sisson hurt his ankle earlier in the week and was only 80 percent — but he have a gutsy performance and we were in the ballgame until he had to come out of the game," Glenn Coach Henry said afterward.

Henry also praised Ward for a good game, as the burly center snapped off eight rebounds to go with his 15 points. Guard Tom Smith was the only other Rocket in double figures with 10 points. Kevin Thweatt pulled down seven caroms and guard Tony Dalimonte had six assists.

"We came ready to play — there's no doubt about it," said McIntyre, whose Patriots out-rebounded Glenn 35-27. The Pats raised their NSL record to 4-4, the same as Glenn's, and 10-6 overall to the Rockets' 11-5 mark.

Senior Wojcik is averaging 20 points a game and has been consistent all year. But McIntyre is especially happy with the play of sophomore Bob Stebbins who has been coming on strong with each game.

"He's a gym rat, who hangs around the basketball court all the time practicing and he's going to be a real fine player," McIntyre said of the 6-3 10th grader who drilled in five field goals and hit all six of his free throws. Lohman connected on 6-of-11 free throws and Wojcik hit 4-of-6 as the Patriots outdueled Glenn 17-8 from the charity stripe.

The Pats also had 29 field goals to Glenn's 26.

Now Glenn must regroup this week as it traveled to Livonia Churchill Tuesday for a non-league encounter before returning home to host undefeated league-leading Redford Union Thursday night.

Meanwhile, Franklin takes its improving fortunes against cellar-dweller Garden City East at home Friday night after being idle Tuesday.

It's still a toss up in Over 30 hockey title race

With three games remaining in the 1980-81 Wayne-Westland Over 30 Hockey season, Tasee Freeze and Johnson Carbonic will have an opportunity to gain ground on their respective division leader. Both teams will play the leaders one more time.

Little Bill's Trophies pulled off a victory over Brock Builders 4-3 with Terry Carley scoring the winning goal.

Carley also picked up an assist in the contest. Tom Tucker, Mike Pouppore and Dennis Lapensee scored earlier goals for the winners while Ken Beal, Dan Thomas, Eugene Taurainen and goalie Don Smith picked up the assists.

Jay Middaugh scored twice for Brock Builders while John Clearwood netted the last puck of the game. Larry Kaifesh finished the contest with two assists. Dallas Hayley scored one assist.

Tasee Freeze made a comeback in the last two periods to secure a 6-5 win over Benny's Pizzeria.

Dave Frankling and Al Pulk netted the puck twice for the winners. Pulk also picked up two assists while Frankling assisted on three. Joe Soukup scored the winning goal and assisted two earlier goals. Earnie Kelm also scored once for the freezers. Conrad Madaleno and Tom DiLaura had one assist each.

Moe Paquette, Ron Brock and Chuck Jennett scored single tallies with Paquette and Brock picking up one assist while Jennet assisted two for Benny's.

Also scoring were Dave Zajac and Tom Bryans while Rod Dittmar, Dave Jones, Jim Thomas and goalie Tim Vanderburgh picked up one assist.

Extra Point Bar & A/C took an early lead but the Jock Shop skated back to secure a 4-2 win. Jerry Robertson finished the contest with three goals while Ron Wojewski tallied once and picked up three assists. Also getting assists were Dave Zielinski, Ken Knick and Jerry Townsend.

Glenn Stevenson scored Extra Points first goal with Greg Piscopink accounting for the last goal. Dave Fawkes and Roger Wodgenske picked up the assists.

Ron Johnson had a night to remember for Johnson Carbonic as he led his team to victory over Etronic 8-4. He scored five goals and assisted one other. John Kunz netted the puck once and assisted another goal while Claud Johnston finished with three assists.

Eugene Hudson and John Castellanos scored one goal apiece with Mark LaFond, Perry Toepfer, Jim Morely and Mike Forynski picking up assists. Etronic's scoring was done by Bob Wood and Dave Fishwick, each netting the puck twice. Fishwick also picked up two assists. Beebe, Dennis Darnell, Marv Borycki, Larry Monticello and Dave Roberts finished the contest with one assist each.

Futurama's Gary Naumoff scored three goals while Barry Anderson tallied twice and assisted one goal, to secure a 5-3 victory over Jake's Lounge.

Craig Averill and Nick Palise assisted two goals with Ed Ross and Bob Eggers picking up one assist.

Playing with a broken jaw, Al Farina scored Jake's first goal while Dave Milam and Jim O'Gozaly also picked up single tallies. Tom Panackia assisted two goals while Al Robertson picked up one assist.

Over 30 Hockey games are played Sunday nights at the Wayne and Westland Rinks. There is no admission charge.

Sunday, Feb. 22, Etronic will get a shot at Jake's Lounge at 6:30 p.m.; the Jock Shop will clash with Futurama at 8 p.m., and Johnson Carbonic will take on Brock Builders at 9:30 p.m. All three contests to be played at the Westland rink.

Over in Wayne: Extra Point Bar & A/C has a 9 p.m. meeting with Benny's Pizzeria and at 10:30 p.m., Tasee Freeze plays Little Bill's Trophies.

Wayne is District 5 midget hockey champs

It was a dream come true.

After months of hard skating, the Wayne 2nd Street Market Midget Class B hockey team captured the 1980-81 District 5 playoff championship.

Wayne's 2nd St. Market Midget "B" hockey team beat Garden City last Sunday in overtime, 3-2, for the title.

It was the first Midget "B" District Championship ever recorded in the history of Wayne Hockey Association, and for 13 of the 14 players it marked their first championship thrill.

At the 3:25 mark of the first period, Garden City was caught for a high-sticking penalty and 17 seconds later Wayne found themselves leading 1-0 after Eric Mac won a faceoff that went directly to the Garden City goalie and Don Erhart tucked in the rebound.

Garden City tied it up, scoring the only goal in the second period and went on to take the lead early in the third period.

While Wayne continued to execute and display quality hockey with outstanding goaltending by Frank Cierpial. Then, at 4:45 of the third period Garden City make the mistake of interfering with a Wayne player in front of the net and this time it took 22 seconds for Wayne's power play to click.

Brian Brozowski tied the game up at two apiece when he banged in a loose puck after Jeff Sandy blasted a drive from the blue-line after receiving the pass from Eric Mac. The third period ended 2-2. That set the stage for the sudden-death overtime heroics.

Traditionally overtime periods end quickly and Wayne upheld that tradition after 1:02. "It seemed to take longer than that," said Captain Jim Newland who was on the ice at the time the winning goal was scored.

Brozowski (frustrated for 2 games) was made the instant hero as Newland attracted four Garden City defenders and again Mac picked up the loose puck and laid the most perfect pass possible through his legs and on to the stick of Brozowski who was wide open in front of the net.

Brozowski took his time to beat the lone goaltender up high, sending the players and Wayne supporters into a frenzy. Mac completed his second playmaker of the series on the play.

The victory also qualifies the Midgets for the Michigan State playoffs in March.

Head Coach Jay Bleim said: "This team has never ceased to amaze me all season long. These guys believe in themselves as winners. But the most important thing to me is that they have fun playing hockey together and it took all 14 of our players to win (each earned at least 1 pt.). "I'm just glad to have been part of the fun because I give all of the credit to these players for this accomplishment."

Throughout the four game playoff Wayne scored 20 goals and allowed only 6.

Prior to the championship game, Wayne defeated three other opponents. The first two games were within their own division-National. They trounced Plymouth 7-1.

Wayne's second game of the playoffs was against Westland and again they found themselves having to come from behind to win 4-1.

For the third time in the series, Wayne had to come from behind to beat their opponent, Livonia 6-1.

The Wayne Midgets will now travel to Grosse Pointe (March 5-8) and try their luck in the Michigan State playoffs.

THE FACTS about Check 'n Earn

THE CHECKING ACCOUNT THAT PAYS YOU INTEREST

Now, Wyandotte Savings Bank offers you a new idea in money management. It's called Check 'n Earn—a checking account that combines the convenience of a traditional checking account with the earning power of a savings account.

Q. How does Check 'n Earn work?

A. Just like any other checking account, except Check 'n Earn also pays you interest on your checking funds — money that never earned interest before.

Q. How is the interest computed?

A. WSB pays you 5.25% annual interest, compounded continuously and paid monthly, for an effective annual yield of 5.47% on your Check 'n Earn funds. No bank or any other financial institution will pay you more on this kind of account.

Q. Are there any service charges?

A. As long as you keep an average monthly balance of $1,500 in your Check 'n Earn account, it is free. Here is the fee structure:

If your average monthly balance is:	Your monthly service charge is:
$1,500 and above	FREE
$1,000 to $1,499	$3.00
$500 to $999	$4.00
$0 to $499	$5.00

Regardless of your Check 'n Earn balance, you'll never stop earning interest or have to pay deposit fees or check processing fees.

Q. What other advantages does Check 'n Earn have?

A. Check 'n Earn gives you back your cancelled checks each month along with an itemized statement showing your interest earned. Your Check 'n Earn account is also protected by 109 years of WSB experience and is insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation up to $100,000.

Q. How soon can I get Check 'n Earn?

A. Right now at any WSB office.

For more information on Check 'n Earn interest-paying checking accounts, please call or stop by your nearest WSB office. Another money saving idea from the bank that gives you MasterCard and Visa with no annual fee.
